Rugged Sierras Being Scoured For Smiling Killer

NEVADA CITY, Calif. (AP) — Authorities in the Sierra foothills searched today for a suspect and a motive in the savage slaying of two persons and wounding of three others at a riverbank campground south of Nevada City.

"We really don't know who we're looking for," Nevada County Sheriff Wayne Brown said after he surveyed the campsites overlooking the pebble-strewn beach at a bend in the Bear River.

He talked for three hours with the husbands of two victims and said, "They can't throw any light on the matter. They're just as puzzled as we are."

Delay Urged In Deploying New Weapons

Humphrey Cites SALT Progress On Missile Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring the nation must not deploy new weapons while trying to limit old ones, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., asked Congress today to delay all funds for the multiple-warhead system called MIRV.

Humphrey told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the total cost of equipping all land- and sea-based missiles with MIRV tips may exceed an estimated $12 billion. He said in prepared remarks such "enormous expenditures" have not been justified by the Nixon administration.

Employing such a system now, Humphrey said could unbalance what he called the parity between U.S. and Russian missile forces and distort arms limitation talks under way with the Soviet Union.

The former vice president introduced legislation to isolate all MIRV development funds in a special Treasury account until Congress and the president decide jointly the money is needed to counter a real Soviet threat.

Humphrey gave the committee a report by himself and two House members, concluding MIRV—Multiple Independently Targetable Re-entry Vehicle—is a weapon whose time has not come. The MIRV system places several warheads on a single missile, each aimed at a separate target.

The report said any urgency about deploying MIRV is stripped away by indications the strategic arms limitation talks in Helsinki, Finland, may be close to negotiating a limit on deployment of American and Soviet antiballistic missile systems—ABM.

"MIRV is a highly destabilizing weapons system which may become superfluous if agreements on ABM and offensive weapons ceilings are successfully concluded at SALT," the report said.

The two persons slain by the man Brown described as "a maniacal attacker wielding a heavy, sharp weapon" were found about 30 feet apart.

One was Donna Fitzhugh, who with her husband and four children moved from Ontario, Calif., in mid-June. The other was Jimen Satan, 29, of nearby Weimar who had set up a semi-permanent camp in a tarpaulin-covered camper he had built on a flatbed truck.

Critically injured was Martha Marie Parker, 25, of Ontario who underwent extensive surgery at Sacramento Medical Center for head wounds.

Injured less seriously were Kenneth Garbe, 20, of Applegate in neighboring Placer County, and his wife Jean, 23.

Brown said the killer slipped into the campground, a prime camping spot for those who know how to find it, about 11 p.m. Monday.

He first confronted the Garbes at their tent.

"This guy threw open the flap and said 'Hi there.' That's all I remember him saying," Garbe said. "He was grinning, sort of growling."

Garbe said the attacker swung at his wife with what appeared to be a sickle. He and the attacker struggled and "then the guy ran away from the tent."

Garbe said he saw the man attacking Satan and the other two women at the next tent about 30 feet away.

Garbe said he heard three shots apparently fired by Satan, whose holster was empty although it held a pistol earlier Monday.

Brown said the attacker apparently fled with Satan's pistol, a .41-caliber magnum revolver.

Reagan Rips President's Welfare Plan

MORAN, Wyo. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan again has attacked President Nixon's welfare reform plan, but he scoffed at a charge their dispute over aid to the poor could rip the Republican party so badly it might cost Nixon the 1972 election.

The California chief executive came to Jackson Hole to present his own welfare reform ideas to the Western Governors' Conference and said he "wouldn't be able to vote for a conference resolution backing Nixon's program."

Reagan said he likes some parts of the Nixon plan but—at this point—opposes it because of "a very great concern about the adding of millions of new people to the rolls."

The governor's plan would cut thousands from the 2.5 million persons on California's welfare program by tightening eligibility requirements and eliminating what Reagan calls "cheats," who are collecting aid at the expense of the really needy.

Reagan told newsmen when he arrived Tuesday from Sacramento by charter jet that he brought along a news clipping to show Republican Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon that "the President . . . thinks we're getting along just fine."

McCall had accused Reagan of undercutting Nixon's popular support, and his chance of carrying the pivotal state of California in 1972, by quarreling with Washington over welfare and federally financed legal aid to the poor in California.

When McCall was told that the White House denied there was any rift between Nixon and Reagan, McCall told newsmen: "What else could they say?"

Actor Carleton Young Dies; 'Elly Queen'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Carleton G. Young, whose voice boomed on radio in the 1940s as title character in the "Count of Monte Cristo," and "Elly Queen" series, has died at 64.

Young, who died Sunday at a Santa Monica hospital after a long illness, was the count from 1943 to 1952 and the detective in 1940-41. He also did television and movie work.

The funeral will be Thursday.

Strike To Last At Least 2 Weeks

Bell System Workers Walk Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bell System was struck by up to 500,000 telephone workers today as phone companies kept service going but prepared to halt repair service and installations.

Supervisory personnel filled in at switchboards after members of the AFL-CIO Communications Workers of America walked out at 6 a.m. EDT.

A union spokesman said the virtually nationwide walkout would last at least two weeks because of complicated labor ratification procedures. The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. said it was too early to determine the effects.

"But people can expect to hear a lot of male voices when calling the operator," said information officer Chuck Dynes.

Because telephones are so highly automated, most calls will continue to go through until lack of maintenance causes breakdowns.

In strike-affected areas many new telephone installations were halted, as was repair service on all but government-operated telephones essential for national security.

The strike by the CWA and allied unions is over wages and fringe issues, including the CWA's demand for an agency shop and the company's alleged "antifeminist" job policies.

Last May 23, the union rejected a three-year wage and benefit package the company said amounted to a 30-per-cent increase, including a 17-per-cent boost in wages alone. Current pay ranges from tops of $118 for operators to $193 for craftsmen.

Bell's parent company, American Telephone and Telegraph Co., said Tuesday it had a new offer. Terms were not released, but in a statement the C & P Telephone Co. of Washington said it was presenting a pact for consideration "totaling more than 30 per cent in wages and fringes" over three years.

A C & P spokesman said the offer provided for a 16-per-cent boost in the first year, but he did not give full details.

Two and a half hours after AT&T announced it had a new offer, Joseph A. Beirne, CWA president, dismissed it as a scandalous public-relations trick.

Wildcat strikes spread from Virginia to California even as he spoke.

Pacific Telephone Co. said 2,500 workers were off the job early Tuesday night in San Francisco and East San Francisco Bay communities.

In Miami, an AT&T spokesman said, striking telephone company employees walked off the job and cut cables, knocking out some circuits that were repaired later by supervisors.

Some 200 CWA members in Middletown, Ohio, went off the job early; "tired of waiting," they said, for the morning deadline.

At Nashville's Western Electric plant, an arm of the Bell system, all 70 workers walked off the job just before midnight in protest of the suspension of 12 workers the company said had slowed production. The plant was forced to close.

MINI-SUB TO SALVAGE ANDREA DORIA — Built by Michael Cushman of Beverly, Mass., this 2-man, 6-ton cement and fiberglass submarine will start to salvage the Andrea Doria next spring. The famed Italian liner sank after a collision off Nantucket with the Swedish liner Stockholm July 25, 1956. A total of 51 lives was lost.

Veto Of Public Works Bill To Stick, GOP Declares

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans claimed today they have enough Senate votes to sustain President Nixon's veto of a $5.6-billion public works bill favored by many Democrats.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., charging the veto was "a cruel blow to the unemployed of our nation," urged the measure be made law.

That would require two-thirds approval of the Senate and House, and Democrats doubted they could muster enough votes.

Nixon said he rejected the bill because of its $2-billion program of stepped-up public works spending, designed by advocates to provide work for the unemployed, but spurned by the White House as a plan offering only dead-end jobs.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., chairman of the Public Works Committee, and Theodore Stevens, R-Alaska, wrote their colleagues appealing for support of the bill.

"It will go a long way toward reducing the substantial unemployment in the construction field, where there are currently between 350,000 and 450,000 unemployed workers," they said.

The president urged revival of other features of the bill, renewing $1.5 billion in development aid for the Appalachian region and extending the current public works and economic development act.

A Republican source predicted no more than four GOP senators would break with the administration on the issue. There are 44 Republican senators, and 34 votes would be enough to uphold the veto.

Williams, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, said in a prepared speech that 5.5 million Americans are unemployed and "the President's criticism of this bill comes to very little when measured against the urgent needs" of the unemployed.

"That is why . . . I fervently hope the Senate will act to nullify a veto which came as a cruel blow to the unemployed of our nation," Williams said.

Nixon said the vetoed bill wouldn't create jobs soon enough to solve the unemployment problem.

Find Cache Of Cash

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Simpson were helping his mother move to another residence Sunday, when a secret compartment on a dresser drawer popped open and $6,580 in cash dropped out.

"We were stunned," Mrs. Simpson said Tuesday, "but we knew it wasn't ours."

After staring at the windfall for a long moment, the Simpsons called the Chelan County sheriff's office and reported they had purchased the dresser and other furniture from a woman's estate three years ago.

The cash 100, 20, 10 and 5 dollar bills—is being returned to the estate.

"The money was nice to look at," Mrs. Simpson said, "but we knew we couldn't keep it. Besides, finding it was half the fun."

Nixon Shortens California Stay

Foreign Policy Pressure Noted

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon, pressed to make key Vietnam policy decisions is delaying planned budget conferences and apparently will head back to Washington sooner than expected.

Nixon scheduled more foreign policy talks here this week with Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, the presidential adviser on national security who returned Tuesday from important conferences in Saigon and Paris, site of the long-stalled Vietnam peace negotiations.

The chief executive originally intended to spend much of this week meeting at the Western White House with Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, Director George P. Shultz of the Office of Management and Budget and others closely associated with economic matters.

It now appears that these domestic policy meetings will be postponed until next week because of the more urgent decisions Nixon must make on a July 1 Viet Cong peace proposal.

Kissinger, so far as is known, had no direct contact with Viet Cong or North Vietnamese negotiators in the French capital. It is said he talked only with the U.S. ambassador there and David K. E. Bruce, chief of the American negotiating team who is due to be replaced in the weeks or months ahead by William Porter, U.S. ambassador to South Korea.

The impact of policy-making problems associated with Southeast Asia was underlined by tentative word that Nixon likely will fly back to Washington on Sunday. Aides earlier had pinpointed Tuesday as the probable date for the return.

Ky Fires Opening Rounds In Viet Presidential Drive

SAIGON (AP) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky kicked off his campaign to replace President Nguyen Van Thieu with an open letter today accusing Thieu of wholesale renegeing on campaign promises, dictatorial practices and trying to rig the coming election.

Ky said he was dissociating himself from Thieu, making official a split that has been apparent for months, and would run against him in the Oct. election.

There was no immediate comment from the Presidential Palace.

With a lull continuing in the war, Ky's letter shifted attention to politics.

The vice president said he was Thieu's running mate four years ago because he wanted to inspire the people and the army "by this expression of unity at the leadership level."

"I had then no other hope than to see you achieve the national objectives which you had defined yourself," Ky continued. "However, none of those objectives has been attained today."

Ky said those "unfulfilled promises" were responsible for a state of "stagnation and of regression which has weakened

the efforts of this nation in its fight against Communism.

"Moreover, because of your excessive attachment to power, you have indulged in dictatorial practices—preferring the flatteries of sycophants over the advice of honest counsels. This is the reason why my voice has not been heard. This is the reason why unconstitutional, illegal and repressive actions have continually developed."

Ky said he had decided to run for the presidency to bring "appropriate reparation to the

Meanwhile, the Supreme Court ruled constitutional the amendment to the electoral law which Thieu sponsored to restrict the number of presidential candidates drastically. Ky in his letter said the amendment violates the constitution and Thieu four years ago had "ardently opposed" just such restrictions.

U.S. Assumes Tough Stance On Trade Deficit With Japan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States appears returning to the tough-Yankee-trader stance as an answer to the record trade deficit American industry is expected to suffer this year at the hands of Japan.

Although the Tokyo government has liberalized import restrictions on American products in recent months, the United States will come up more than $2 billion short in its 1971 trade with Japan, according to administration predictions.

Results include a near-non-existent U.S. trade surplus, of extreme concern to an American government increasingly worried about the political impact of a troubled economy.

While details of the Nixon administration's course are under study and publicly unstated, their direction—including economic saber-rattling—is becoming increasingly clear.

One administration expert said there is no longer reason for not having full reciprocity in trade with Japan, foretelling a tougher U.S. attitude.

Suggestions under consideration include more quotas on Japanese goods imported here, enforcement of old laws aimed at unfair trade policies and a tighter use of legislation to prevent the so-called dumping of Japanese goods on the American market.

Also being studied are proposals to impose countervailing duties—additional charges on imported products subsidized by a foreign nation—and restrictions on foreign capital investment in the United States.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers pointing out that Japan has recovered from World War II to become an economic and political world power, said recently:

"It goes without saying that Japan must act with the sense of responsibility appropriate to its new position. Its economic policies, for example, must be subject to the same criteria as those of other major developed countries. In our bilateral economic relationships Japan cannot expect privileges in the United States which it is not itself prepared to extend."

The secretary said this year's deficit with Japan probably would double the $1.2-billion figure of 1970 and will exceed the record $1.9 billion set in 1969.

Union Vote Slated On CCA Contract

The United Papermakers and Paperworkers, local 640, will meet 10 a.m. Thursday in the basement of the Fraternal Order of Eagles Lodge, 135 E. Main St., to ratify the new contract with Container Corporation of America, it was announced today by a union official.

The local Container plant is one of 16 throughout the mid-west which has been struck since midnight June 21. Approximately 2,300 employees were affected by the strike.

Spokesmen for both the company and the union indicated a satisfactory agreement had been reached concerning the new contract at negotiations in Chicago.

Henry Schroeder manager of the local plant, said work would resume here as soon as the new contract is ratified by union members and approved by company officials.

UFO Sighted Near Van Wert

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Residents and police of Defiance, Paulding and Van Wert counties followed what was described as a unidentified flying object in the sky during the night before it disappeared in Van Wert County.

First sighted over Defiance, viewers described it as a bright star that moved toward the west. There was no immediate explanation for the sighting. However authorities said it may have been a weather balloon.

House Panel OKs State Income Tax

By TAILMAN KRUMM
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee today broke an 11-week deadlock and passed out a bill calling for a state income tax on both individuals and corporations.

The vote was 13-5. The bill was scheduled to go to a floor vote of the full House this afternoon. However, sources said this could be put off until Thursday.

The bill is a scaled down version of Gov. John J. Gilligan's original tax proposal. It calls for a 2 to 4 per cent tax on personal income and a 4 to 8 per cent tax on corporation income.

Chairman E. W. Lamson, R-38 Jefferson, ramrodded the bill to a vote over objections of Rep. Jim Thorpe, R - 90 Alliance. Thorpe wanted to amend the bill but Lamson refused to recognize him.

"We're playing games with the people of Ohio here today," Thorpe said. "I've never seen such shenanigans."

Thorpe is a member of the TOP dissidents headed by Rep. Robert G. Netzel, R-7 Laura, who wanted any taxes collected and spent at the county level.

Thorpe's amendment would have eliminated changes in the direct use exemption granted business and industry. Sponsors of the bill contend the changes would bring in $30 million annually.

Voting against the bill were Reps. Richard Christiansen, D-17 Mansfield; Jack P. Oliver, R-3 Arcanum; Lawrence Hughes R-58 Columbus; Walter White, R-6 Lima, and Thorpe.

Key opponents in the bitter struggle to vote out a tax program had failed to show up Tuesday night to debate the issue in committee.

was finally cancelled. The decision was made following an evening full of inter and intra-party caucuses that yielded no new accommodations.

The committee scheduled a morning meeting today to try again.

In keeping with recent practice no comment on the latest collapse in negotiations was offered by either House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess, R-4 Perrysburg, or Rep. A.G. Lancione, D-30 Belleaire, minority leader.

Kurfess' only comment was: "I'm damned disappointed."

Ways and Means Chairman Lamson, R-38 Jefferson had more to say.

Lamson blamed the latest impasse on Democratic demand that the GOP guarantee five floor votes for a funding amendment to be offered to the legislature.

Through the amendment Democrats are trying to restore cuts of "about $100 million plus" in the $7.8 billion budget (Continued on Page 2)

Nixon scheduled more foreign policy talks here this week with Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, the presidential adviser on national security who returned Tuesday from important conferences in Saigon and Paris, site of the long-stalled Vietnam peace negotiations.

The chief executive originally intended to spend much of this week meeting at the Western White House with Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, Director George P. Shultz of the Office of Management and Budget and others closely associated with economic matters.

It now appears that these domestic policy meetings will be postponed until next week because of the more urgent decisions Nixon must make on a July 1 Viet Cong peace proposal.

Kissinger, so far as is known, had no direct contact with Viet Cong or North Vietnamese negotiators in the French capital. It is said he talked only with the U.S. ambassador there and David K. E. Bruce, chief of the American negotiating team who is due to be replaced in the weeks or months ahead by William Porter, U.S. ambassador to South Korea.

The impact of policy-making problems associated with Southeast Asia was underlined by tentative word that Nixon likely will fly back to Washington on Sunday. Aides earlier had pinpointed Tuesday as the probable date for the return.

Ky Fires Opening Rounds In Viet Presidential Drive

SAIGON (AP) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky kicked off his campaign to replace President Nguyen Van Thieu with an open letter today accusing Thieu of wholesale renegeing on campaign promises, dictatorial practices and trying to rig the coming election.

Ky said he was dissociating himself from Thieu, making official a split that has been apparent for months, and would run against him in the Oct. election.

There was no immediate comment from the Presidential Palace.

With a lull continuing in the war, Ky's letter shifted attention to politics.

The vice president said he was Thieu's running mate four years ago because he wanted to inspire the people and the army "by this expression of unity at the leadership level."

"I had then no other hope than to see you achieve the national objectives which you had defined yourself," Ky continued. "However, none of those objectives has been attained today."

Ky said those "unfulfilled promises" were responsible for a state of "stagnation and of regression which has weakened

the efforts of this nation in its fight against Communism.

"Moreover, because of your excessive attachment to power, you have indulged in dictatorial practices—preferring the flatteries of sycophants over the advice of honest counsels. This is the reason why my voice has not been heard. This is the reason why unconstitutional, illegal and repressive actions have continually developed."

Ky said he had decided to run for the presidency to bring "appropriate reparation to the

Meanwhile, the Supreme Court ruled constitutional the amendment to the electoral law which Thieu sponsored to restrict the number of presidential candidates drastically. Ky in his letter said the amendment violates the constitution and Thieu four years ago had "ardently opposed" just such restrictions.

U.S. Assumes Tough Stance On Trade Deficit With Japan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States appears returning to the tough-Yankee-trader stance as an answer to the record trade deficit American industry is expected to suffer this year at the hands of Japan.

Although the Tokyo government has liberalized import restrictions on American products in recent months, the United States will come up more than $2 billion short in its 1971 trade with Japan, according to administration predictions.

Results include a near-non-existent U.S. trade surplus, of extreme concern to an American government increasingly worried about the political impact of a troubled economy.

While details of the Nixon administration's course are under study and publicly unstated, their direction—including economic saber-rattling—is becoming increasingly clear.

One administration expert said there is no longer reason for not having full reciprocity in trade with Japan, foretelling a tougher U.S. attitude.

Suggestions under consideration include more quotas on Japanese goods imported here, enforcement of old laws aimed at unfair trade policies and a tighter use of legislation to prevent the so-called dumping of Japanese goods on the American market.

Also being studied are proposals to impose countervailing duties—additional charges on imported products subsidized by a foreign nation—and restrictions on foreign capital investment in the United States.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers pointing out that Japan has recovered from World War II to become an economic and political world power, said recently:

"It goes without saying that Japan must act with the sense of responsibility appropriate to its new position. Its economic policies, for example, must be subject to the same criteria as those of other major developed countries. In our bilateral economic relationships Japan cannot expect privileges in the United States which it is not itself prepared to extend."

The secretary said this year's deficit with Japan probably would double the $1.2-billion figure of 1970 and will exceed the record $1.9 billion set in 1969.

Union Vote Slated On CCA Contract

The United Papermakers and Paperworkers, local 640, will meet 10 a.m. Thursday in the basement of the Fraternal Order of Eagles Lodge, 135 E. Main St., to ratify the new contract with Container Corporation of America, it was announced today by a union official.

The local Container plant is one of 16 throughout the midwest which has been struck since midnight June 21. Approximately 2,300 employees were affected by the strike.

Spokesmen for both the company and the union indicated a satisfactory agreement had been reached concerning the new contract at negotiations in Chicago.

Henry Schroeder manager of the local plant, said work would resume here as soon as the new contract is ratified by union members and approved by company officials.

UFO Sighted Near Van Wert

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Residents and police of Defiance, Paulding and Van Wert counties followed what was described as an unidentified flying object in the sky during the night before it disappeared in Van Wert County.

First sighted over Defiance, viewers described it as a bright star that moved toward the west. There was no immediate explanation for the sighting. However authorities said it may have been a weather balloon.

House Panel OKs State Income Tax

By THALMAN KRUMM
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee today broke an 11-week deadlock and passed out a bill calling for a state income tax on both individuals and corporations.

The vote was 13-5. The bill was scheduled to go to a floor vote of the full House this afternoon. However, sources said this could be put off until Thursday.

The bill is a scaled down version of Gov. John J. Gilligan's original tax proposal. It calls for a 2 to 4 per cent tax on personal income and a 4 to 8 per cent tax on corporation income.

Chairman E. W. Lampton, R-38 Jefferson, ramrodded the bill to a vote over objections of Rep. Jim Thorpe, R - 90 Alliance. Thorpe wanted to amend the bill but Lampton refused to recognize him.

"We're playing games with the people of Ohio here today," Thorpe said. "I've never seen

Thorpe is a member of the TOP dissidents headed by Rep. Robert G. Netzel, R-7 Laura, who wanted any taxes collected and spent at the county level.

Thorpe's amendment would have eliminated changes in the direct use exemption granted business and industry. Sponsors of the bill contend the changes would bring in $30 million annually.

"There is no basis for that estimate," Thorpe told the committee. He said a check with only three industries earlier in the day indicated it would cost them $10 million a year.

Voting against the bill were Reps. Richard Christiansen, D-17 Mansfield; Jack P. Oliver, R-3 Arcanum; Lawrence Hughes R-58 Columbus; Walter White, R-6 Lima, and Thorpe.

Key opponents in the bitter struggle to vote out a tax program had failed to show up Tuesday night to debate the issue in committee.

was finally cancelled. The decision was made following an evening full of inter and intra-party caucuses that yielded no new accommodations.

The committee scheduled a morning meeting today to try again.

In keeping with recent practice no comment on the latest collapse in negotiations was offered by either House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess, R-4 Perrysburg, or Rep. A.G. Lancione, D-30 Belleaire, minority leader.

Kurfess' only comment was: "I'm damned disappointed."

Ways and Means Chairman Lampton, R-38 Jefferson had more to say.

Lampton blamed the latest impasse on Democratic demand that the GOP guarantee five floor votes for a funding amendment to be offered to the legislation.

Through the amendment Democrats are trying to restore cuts of "about $100 million plus" in the $7.8 billion budget (Continued on Page 2)

Report Battle Against Arab Guerrillas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Palestinian guerrillas claimed today that King Hussein's tanks were making repeated assaults to overrun their last bases in northern Jordan. The guerrilla military command in Beirut claimed attacks had been under way since dawn in the second day of an "all out army offensive" to drive some 3,000 guerrillas from their foothold five miles from the town of Jarash and 25 miles north of Amman.

Newsmen who made it to Jarash said they could hear the muffled thud of what sounded like mortar fire, but local residents told them it was only "routine, everyday shooting."

There was no comment from the government in Amman on the latest commando claims. Officials explained the road to Jarash was closed because of "military exercises."

The guerrillas claimed Tuesday night that hundreds of persons had been killed or wounded in a shelling attack by Jordanian forces in the north but that report could not be confirmed either.

A Damascus radio broadcast said Syria had appealed to Jordan and the guerrillas to stop the fighting.

According to guerrilla communiques, Jordanian tanks and armored cars overran the Gaza refugee camp near Irbid in northern Jordan after a heavy shelling of the area and a hand-to-hand battle with the guerrilla defenders.

Judge Sends Two Men To Mansfield

Pickaway County Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb Tuesday sentenced two men to the Ohio Reformatory, Mansfield, when they violated the terms of their probation.

Earl H. Hunt, Route 1, New Holland, pleaded guilty to non support Sept. 17, 1970 and was placed on three years probation at that time. Sanford E. Larie, Chillicothe, pleaded guilty to non support Jan. 22, 1971, and was also placed on three years probation.

Both men were back in court for failure to make support payments and were given one to three year sentences.

Ben Schwalbach, Circleville, and Ronald H. Walsh, Circleville both filed motions for shock probation and appeared before Judge Ammer.

Schwalbach was sentenced to the Ohio Reformatory April 17 when he pleaded guilty to grand larceny. The judge granted his motion and placed him on probation for five years.

Walsh was sentenced to the Ohio Reformatory Feb. 2, 1971, when he pleaded guilty to abandoning a pregnant woman. His motion for shock probation was also granted and he was placed on probation for five years.

Patricia Nungeter, Circleville, appeared in court for violation of probation. Granted probation May 18, 1971 when she pleaded guilty to forgery, she violated the terms of her probation which was extended when she was convicted of petit larceny in Circleville Municipal Court.

Clarence Wilkens, Circleville, who pleaded guilty to possession of an instrument for injecting habit forming drugs and was granted three years probation, was in court for violation of probation by virtue of being found guilty of trespassing. His probation was continued.

Continue Hearing In Burglary Case

Attorneys for the three young men charged with the July 4 burglary at Circleville High School entered pleas of not guilty in Circleville Municipal Court Wednesday morning. They were granted a continuance of their hearing to Aug. 12.

Paul Bost, 19 Reynoldsburg; Carlton Good, 18, 260 Sunset Drive and James McGowan, 18, 117 Kimberly Place, have been charged with grand larceny, breaking and entering a building during the night season and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

All three have been released on recognizance bond.

Stock List Goes Lower

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 4.31 at 888.07.

Among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, declines ran ahead of advances by about 3 to 1.

Analysts said the market's weakness Tuesday and today was due, in part, to disappointment in IBM's unchanged second - quarter per share earnings.

IBM was off 5 1/2 at 296 1/2 today, after falling 13 points Tuesday.

In other glimmers, Honeywell was down 1 1/4 at 91 3/4, Xerox was off 3/4 to 116; Control Data was down 1 1/4 to 52 1/4; and Polaroid was off at 108 3/4.

Group, 18 Persons Sue FBI, Mitchell

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The American Friends Service Committee, 18 individuals and a Philadelphia antiwar group filed suit today in U.S. District Court seeking to enjoin the FBI from alleged political harassment, intimidation and surveillance.

The suit names Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and Special Agent Joe D. Jamison, the head of the FBI in Philadelphia, as defendants, in their official capacities and individually.

The 18-page complaint charges the FBI with illegal and unconstitutional physical violence; threats; excessive and continuous surveillance; searches, seizures, arrests and limitations on freedom of movement, electronic surveillance; intimidation of friends, neighbors, relatives, employees and associates; and denial of the right to counsel.

$2.266 Million Budget Okayed For City Schools

The Circleville Board of Education Tuesday approved a proposed budget of $2,266,275 for 1972 during its regular meeting.

Five new teachers were employed they are:

Joan Schepman, graduate of Ohio State University, Columbus, no experience, Junior high home economics; James Howard Funk, graduate of Ohio University, four years military service, high school social studies; Carol Harper, graduate of Albion College, Mich., no experience, high school social studies and sophomore SOS adviser; Linda McVey, graduate of Ohio University, no experience, elementary teacher; Gary Holby, Mt. Union College, one year experience, junior high school social studies and junior high football coach.

Jay Moore was appointed assistant junior class adviser. Gary Wasmer, an elementary teacher, was transferred to Corwin St. School where he will assume the position of head instructor.

EMPLOYED under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act were three developmental reading teachers for the primary grades. They are Sue Anne Schiff, graduate of Ohio State University; Martha Kimpel, graduate of Ohio University; and Helen Balentine, graduate of Ohio University.

The board approved the renewal of a contract with the city health department for nursing services. Amount of the one-year contract is $1,700.

Bids were received for school bus and other vehicle insurance. The bid was awarded to Lewis Cook and Son in the amount of $987.75. Other bidders were E. F. (Doc) Owens Insurance Agency, Lawrence J. Johnson Insurance Agency.

An extension of the lease with Pickaway County Mental Retardation Board was approved for three years, with minor modifications in the lease.

The board granted permission for the construction of two baseball backstops at Nicholas Drive School Playground.

Five manual typewriters were purchased from Baker Typewriter Co., Lancaster, for $159.50.

THE board authorized the sale of a 1957 model car it owns for $150.

Drapes for three classrooms at Corwin Elementary were purchased from Janson Industries, Canton, in the amount of $170 per classroom.

A contract for painting two rooms at the junior high school was awarded to Chester Hill for $200. The board authorized the payment of $232 for labor only to Lewis Conrad for painting in the area of the junior high gymnasium.

Miscellaneous cafeteria equipment was purchased for all the schools from General Hotel Supply Co. Amount of the purchase was $925.80.

Beginning Aug. 10 the board will advertise for bids for equipment for the new building additions at the high school and Nicholas Drive School.

Non certified personnel employed included: Stephen Confare, busdriver; Roy Wolford, custodian at the junior high and Atwater Ave.; Bette Gates, assistant high school secretary.

PERMISSION was granted to Betty Rickey and Linda Steck to attend the home economics conference and for Linda Steck to attend drill team camp at Ashland College.

Ohio Among Biggest Food Cash Takers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio is among the largest recipients of additional federal funds apportioned by the Agriculture Department Tuesday for summer child feeding programs at playgrounds and day care centers.

The Buckeye State will get $746,530 of an additional $811.8 million the department is setting aside for the programs. The Ohio total for 1971 programs is now $938,918.

New York, the largest recipient, is getting $3,174,340 of the additional funds for a $4,147,000.

Judge Fires His Bailiff

CINCINNATI (AP) — William Baxter has been dismissed after having served as bailiff for Judge George Bunyan of the Hamilton County Municipal Court since January of 1970.

Judge Rupert Doan, presiding jurist in the Municipal Court said Tuesday that Baxter, 57, was "involved in certain improprieties that are prohibited by anyone in the employ of this court."

Doan declined to elaborate but said "this was done in the interest of preserving our system of laws."

By law, a bailiff serves at the pleasure of a judge who appointed him so Baxter has no appeal for his dismissal.

Zoning Petition Unacceptable For Ballot

Members of Pickaway County Board of Elections Tuesday ruled against accepting for the ballot the petition on a Washington Twp. zoning amendment.

Reasons given for the rejection were the land involved was not properly identified, no plat was attached to the petition and it held a vague heading.

The land involved is 38 plus acres on Trimmer Road. It had been rezoned for a trailer development.

The petitions contained 93 valid signatures. Thirty-four were required. They were circulated to place the zoning amendment on the November ballot for public vote. Township trustees supported the move.

Petitioners now have the right to appeal the board decision. Any further action has not been reported by Wednesday morning.

Representing petitioners before the board were township resident Darrell Hatfield and Roger Bennington, attorney. Land owner James Trimmer and counsel, Ben W. Hale Jr. of the firm Smith and Tobin, Columbus, were present along with Washington Twp. trustees and clerk and county prosecutor Roy Huffer.

Last week, Democrats asked for and received a boost in the ceiling for the graduated tax against business from seven to eight per cent. The result was an $68 million increase in the funds available for the next two years.

Five GOP votes coupled with the House's 45 Democratic votes would assure passage of the amendment. Fifty votes are needed. There are 54 Republicans in the lower chamber.

In return for the guarantee, Lampson said, Democrats would agree to provide enough support in committee to vote the tax measure out. Eleven of the 18 committee members are Republicans, but several of those majority party votes are committed to a county tax concept.

The defection of GOP county tax proponents has sapped Republicans of their majority status in both the committee and the House.

Corn Blight Spreading

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — C. Wayne Ellett, extension plant pathologist at Ohio State University, said today that as of July 12 reports show evidence of southern corn leaf blight appearing on plants in 58 Ohio counties, 12 more than a week earlier.

He said he does not see this as a spread of the blight "but rather as identifying the symptoms for the first time this year." Most of the identified cases have been on samples of corn plants sent to the OSU clinic.

Ellett said the blight does not appear to be having much effect on Ohio's overall corn crop.

However, he said, a few fields, particularly in southern Ohio, are moderately to severely affected. He said these fields are in areas where the initial infection apparently originated from stored crib corn, hog-feeding operations, corn shelling operations, volunteer corn plant or in fields under minimum tillage.

At midnight tonight, the state begins its third week of financing under a one-month $297 million interim budget that expires July 31. The temporary measure does little more than keep state programs at levels established during the last two years. The 1971-72 biennium began July 1.

Wagner said this would affect any person or business planning to move or install a telephone before the directory is published... "If we know of changes in advance, we can make sure the customer's name, address and correct phone number are listed in the new directory."

The manager said the 1971 directory is being compiled and will be delivered in October...

Other communities listed in the book which are affected include: Ashville, Laureville and Williamsport.

Stock List Goes Lower

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 4.31 at 888.07.

Among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, declines ran ahead of advances by about 3 to 1.

Analysts said the market's weakness Tuesday and today was due, in part, to disappointment in IBM's unchanged second-quarter per share earnings.

IBM was off 5 1/2 at 296 1/2 today, after falling 13 points Tuesday.

In other glimmers, Honeywell was down 1 1/4 at 91 3/4, Xerox was off 3/4 to 116; Control Data was down 1 1/4 to 52 1/4; and Polaroid was off at 108 3/4.

Group, 18 Persons Sue FBI, Mitchell

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The American Friends Service Committee, 18 individuals and a Philadelphia antiwar group filed suit in U.S. District Court today seeking to enjoin the FBI from alleged political harassment, intimidation and surveillance.

The suit names Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and Special Agent Joe D. Jamison, the head of the FBI in Philadelphia, as defendants, in their official capacities and individually.

The 18-page complaint charges the FBI with illegal and unconstitutional physical violence; threats; excessive and continuous surveillance; searches, seizures, arrests and limitations on freedom of movement, electronic surveillance; intimidation of friends, neighbors, relatives, employees and associates; and denial of the right to counsel.

$2.266 Million Budget Okayed For City Schools

The Circleville Board of Education Tuesday approved a proposed budget of $2,266,275 for 1972 during its regular meeting.

Five new teachers were employed. They are: Joan Schepman, graduate of Ohio State University, Columbus, no experience; James Howard Funk, graduate of Ohio University, four years military service, high school social studies; Carol Harper, graduate of Albion College, Mich., no experience, high school social studies and sophomore SOS adviser; Linda McVey, graduate of Ohio University, no experience, elementary teacher; Gary Holby, Mt. Union College, one year experience, junior high school social studies and junior high football coach.

Jay Moore was appointed assistant junior class adviser. Gary Wasmer, an elementary teacher, was transferred to Corwin St. School where he will assume the position of head instructor.

EMPLOYED under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act were three developmental reading teachers for the primary grades. They are Sue Anne Schiff, graduate of Ohio State University; Martha Kimpel, graduate of Ohio University; and Helen Balentine, graduate of Ohio University.

The board approved the renewal of a contract with the city health department for nursing services. Amount of the one-year contract is $1,700.

Bids were received for school bus and other vehicle insurance. The bid was awarded to Lewis Cook and Son in the amount of $987.75. Other bidders were E. F. (Doc) Owens Insurance Agency, Lawrence J. Johnson Insurance Agency.

An extension of the lease with Pickaway County Mental Retardation Board was approved for three years, with minor modifications in the lease.

The board granted permission for the construction of two baseball backstops at Nicholas Drive School Playground. Five manual typewriters were purchased from Baker Typewriter Co., Lancaster, for $159.50.

THE board authorized the sale of a 1957 model car it owns for $150.

Drapes for three classrooms at Corwin Elementary were purchased from Janson Industries, Canton, in the amount of $170 per classroom.

A contract for painting two rooms at the junior high school was awarded to Chester Hill for $200. The board authorized the payment of $232 for labor only to Lewis Conrad for painting in the area of the junior high gymnasium.

Miscellaneous cafeteria equipment was purchased for all the schools from General Hotel Supply Co. Amount of the purchase was $255.80.

Beginning Aug. 10 the board will advertise for bids for equipment for the new building additions at the high school and Nicholas Drive School.

Non certified personnel employed included: Stephen Confare, busdriver; Roy Wolford, custodian at the junior high and Atwater Ave.; Bette Gates, assistant high school secretary.

PERMISSION was granted to Betty Rickey and Linda Steck to attend the home economics conference and for Linda Steck to attend drill team camp at Ashland College.

Ohio Among Biggest Food Cash Takers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio is among the largest recipients of additional federal funds apportioned by the Agriculture Department Tuesday for summer child feeding programs at playgrounds and day care centers. The Buckeye State will get $746,530 of an additional $11.8 million the department is setting aside for the programs. The Ohio total for 1971 programs is now $938,918.

New York, the largest recipient, is getting $3,174,340 of the additional funds for a $4,147,000.

Donald Metzler, elementary supervisor, was granted permission to attend the Workshop in Implementing behavioral systems in schools which will be held in Columbus.

The board approved participation in Title VI with Fairfield and Franklin Counties.

Judge Fires His Bailiff

CINCINNATI (AP) — William Baxter has been dismissed after having served as bailiff for Judge George Bunyan of the Hamilton County Municipal Court since January of 1970.

Judge Rupert Doan, presiding jurist in the Municipal Court said Tuesday that Baxter, 57, was "involved in certain improprieties that are prohibited by anyone in the employ of this court."

Doan declined to elaborate but said "this was done in the interest of preserving our system of laws."

By law, a bailiff serves at the pleasure of a judge who appointed him so Baxter has no appeal for his dismissal.

Zoning Petition Unacceptable For Ballot

Members of Pickaway County Board of Elections Tuesday ruled against accepting for the ballot the petition on a Washington Twp. zoning amendment.

Reasons given for the rejection were the land involved was not properly identified, no plat was attached to the petition and it held a vague heading.

The land involved is 38 plus acres on Trimmer Road. It had been rezoned for a trailer development.

The petitions contained 93 valid signatures. Thirty-four were required. They were circulated to place the zoning amendment on the November ballot for public vote. Township trustees supported the move.

Petitioners now have the right to appeal the board decision. Any further action has not been reported by Wednesday morning.

Representing petitioners before the board were township resident Darrell Hatfield and Roger Benington, attorney. Land owner James Trimmer and counsel, Ben W. Hale Jr. of the firm Smith and Tobin, Columbus, were present along with Washington Twp. trustees and clerk and county prosecutor Roy Huffer.

passed by the House late in May. The money would go primarily to health and education programs.

Last week, Democrats asked for and received a boost in the ceiling for the graduated tax against business from seven to eight per cent. The result was an $68 million increase in the funds available for the next two years.

Five GOP votes coupled with the House's 45 Democratic votes would assure passage of the amendment. Fifty votes are needed. There are 54 Republicans in the lower chamber.

In return for the guarantee, Lampson said, Democrats would agree to provide enough support in committee to vote the tax measure out. Eleven of the 18 committees members are Republicans, but several of those majority party votes are committed to a county tax concept.

The defection of GOP county tax proponents has sapped Republicans of their majority status in both the committee and the House.

Lampson admitted Democrats would probably get at least five GOP votes on the floor anyway, but objected to demands for guarantees. "That is not the way the game is played," he said. "For Lord's sakes... I've never heard of such a thing."

Democrats declined the opportunity to explain their position in detail, saying they didn't want to "foul up the works."

But Rep. James Flannery D-48 Cleveland, predicted today's meeting would determine whether or not "we are able to crack the nut" on the tax issue.

At midnight tonight, the state begins its third week of financing under a one-month $297 million interim budget that expires July 31. The temporary measure does little more than keep state programs at levels established during the last two years. The 1971-73 biennium began July 1.

Motorists Fined $150 For DWI

Carl E. Johnson, 57, 1201 Turner Drive, was fined $150 and costs sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and had his driving rights suspended for one year.

He was charged with driving while intoxicated. Also charged with driving while intoxicated was Charles E. Bowman, 31, Washington C.H., who was also fined $150 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and had his driving rights suspended for a year.

Randall Downs, 19, Stoutsville, forfeited a $19 bond for operating an unsafe motor vehicle.

Houston Smith, 61, 137 Watt St., was fined $15 and costs for failure to stop at a red light.

David C. Gentzel 22, 210 Lancaster Pike, was given a suspended fine of $15 for operating an unsafe motor vehicle.

Judge Sends Two Men To Mansfield

Pickaway County Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb Tuesday sentenced two men to the Ohio Reformatory, Mansfield, when they violated the terms of their probation.

Earl H. Hunt, Route 1, New Holland, pleaded guilty to non support Sept. 17, 1970 and was placed on three years probation at that time. Sanford E. Larie, Chillicothe, pleaded guilty to non support Jan. 22, 1971, and was also placed on three years probation.

Both men were back in court for failure to make support payments and were given one to three year sentences.

Ben Schwalbach, Circleville, and Ronald H. Walsh, Circleville both filed motions for shock probation and appeared before Judge Ammer.

Schwalbach was sentenced to the Ohio Reformatory April 17 when he pleaded guilty to grand larceny. The judge granted him motion and placed him on probation for five years.

Walsh was sentenced to the Ohio Reformatory Feb. 2, 1971, when he pleaded guilty to abandoning a pregnant woman. His motion for shock probation was also granted and he was placed on probation for five years.

Patricia Nungester, Circleville, appeared in court for violation of probation. Granted probation May 18, 1971 when she pleaded guilty to forgery, she violated the terms of her probation which was extended when she was convicted of petit larceny in Circleville Municipal Court.

Clarence Wilkens, Circleville, who pleaded guilty to possession of an instrument for injecting habit forming drugs and was granted three years probation, was in court for violation of probation by virtue of being found guilty of trespassing. His probation was continued.

Continue Hearing In Burglary Case

Attorneys for the three young men charged with the July 4 burglary at Circleville High School entered pleas of not guilty in Circleville Municipal Court Wednesday morning. They were granted a continuance of their hearing to Aug. 12.

Paul Bost, 19 Reynoldsburg; Carlton Good, 18, 280 Sunset Drive and James McGowan, 18, 117 Kimberly Place, have been charged with grand larceny, breaking and entering a building during the night season and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. All three have been released on recognizance bond.

Red China Supports Geneva Meet

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist China is willing to take part in a new international conference on Vietnam along the lines of the 1954 Geneva parley that ended France's war in Indochina, the leader of the Australian Labor party said today on his return from Peking.

Party leader Gough Whitlam headed a delegation of Laborites who spent 12 days in China and talked with Premier Chou En-lai and other leaders.

"I discussed the Geneva conference and its revival with Chou," Whitlam told a news conference, "and the Chinese are quite willing to participate in any renewed Geneva conference."

Whitlam, whose party is opposed to Australia's participation in the Vietnam war, did not enlarge on Chou's ideas about a conference on Vietnam, but he said: "The administrative arrangements for a revived Geneva-style conference would have to be more in an Asian framework."

He pointed out that the convening powers of the 1954 conference—Britain and the Soviet Union—were both European, and only one of the three nations on the International Control Commission set up to police the agreement was Asian. The three nations are India, Canada and Poland.

Whitlam did not say whether these were also Chou's views, but it seemed likely that they were.

Corn Pilfered

Pickaway County Sheriff's Department is investigating the theft of corn from a Kingston farm.

Jacob Maxwell reported $240 worth of corn has been taken from a crib in the barn yard during the past two weeks.

Camping

Campers and other vacationers who want to get away from it all, as a rule don't want to get too far away from their creature comforts. Just as the tens of varying shapes and colors which dotted camp grounds a few years ago have largely given way to more permanent wheeled homes, so have the furnishings of a camper's haunt changed.

Running water, electricity, cooking

stoves and portable refrigerators are found in abundance in organized camp grounds. Even indoor plumbing, swimming pools and moving picture shows add to the domestication of many camp communities.

At least the scenery is different, and the neighbors, for a week or two. And there is the feeling of being out of touch, despite the conveniences. After all, who said camping had to be hardship to be enjoyable?

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Some of those unofficial but widely publicized statistical goals for the 1970s are already being cast aside as sober reflection suggests that they were spurious to begin with or unattainable now.

Most revered of these was the goal of reducing unemployment to four per cent without market inflation. It was upheld by both Republicans and Democrats, by researchers and decision makers until this month.

In his first public statement since being named chief economic spokesman for the administration, Treasury Secretary John B. Connally scored the goal as a "myth" never achieved "except in wartime."

At the time Connally dismissed the 4 per cent goal, the jobless rate was somewhere between 5.6 per cent and 6.2 per cent, figures conceded by the administration to be disappointingly high.

The 4 per cent goal, had, in fact, already been ignored by the administration some months earlier. The 1971 Economic Report specified a goal of 4.5 per cent by the middle of next year.

The most controversial goal to go was the one calling for a Gross National Product of $1.065 trillion for 1971. Private economists contended for months that this was impossible. Now the administration agrees.

Late last week Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, declared it "would be irresponsible" to try to push the economy hard enough to achieve that figure. It would have meant more inflation.

And, with prices maintaining a hot pace the wholesale price index rose at a rate of 4-10ths of one per cent last month compared with 3-10ths of one per cent in May—there is less talk now of "controlling" inflation.

Another widely accepted goal was that of 2.6 million new housing units a year for the 1970s. As the rate of housing starts remains just under 2 million, there is a tendency for that goal to fade.

Where did the 2.6-million goal come from? Before leaving office, President Lyndon B. Johnson said a program was needed to provide 20 million new units in the 1970s, in addition to rehabilitating six million.

The two figures eventually were combined by others into 26 million new units, and the resulting average of 2.6 million a year was used even by government spokesmen.

Analysis shows that the aims might have been set too high, a tendency understandable enough when you consider that goals wouldn't be goals if they were easily achievable.

But there is enough evidence around also to suggest that a host of goals are being forgotten today not because they were set too high but because the slow economic recovery makes them too painful to think about.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

As the people of Circleville already know, the United Papermakers and Paperworkers went on strike June 21, 1971, against Container Corporation of America. There are 110 men locally and about 2,400 nationally involved in this strike.

The company is doing nothing at this time to try to bring this to an end. On June 30, an article appeared in this paper telling of Container's concern for the wood haulers. If you remember there was no concern for 110 men in this area who are out of work because of their unfairness at the bargaining table in Chicago. These wood haulers are not being hurt by this strike as the article read, because they told us they could sell their wood to Mead Corporation in Chillicothe if they would cut it in 6-foot lengths. So it is not a case that our union is hurting any of these producers as the company is trying to get people to believe.

We are on strike against Container Corporation for wages, fringe benefits and better working conditions. Also we are not on strike to cause any trouble as the company is saying we are doing.

The wages at this plant in Circleville are the lowest of any other plant of Container Corporation. The fringe benefits need a lot of changes in them due to the cost of living. The working conditions at this plant are unbelievable.

Safety is a word the company runs down our throats with safety meetings but the things we tell them should be done have never been done. With working conditions and wages like this is why we are where we are today.

Company personnel at this plant is doing everything in the book to run our union down and is causing a lot of bad feelings by things they are doing and saying to our men who are standing their picket duty at the gates of the local plant.

Also the local union officers tried to talk to the yard personnel and ask them to please park in the company parking lot while we were on strike as to try to stop any trouble that might happen. But the divisional manager said no to this. So you can see that our officers did their part in trying to stop trouble, but the top man did all he could to cause it.

As the people of this city know, rumors of violence and other things in this strike and that we are striking because 17 men got fired in Knoxville, Tenn., plant are not true. This is what the company wants you to believe, not what they are doing to prolong it. Just one more little thing that they are doing to us as of June 30, nine days, not 30 days, but nine days after we went on strike — our Insurance Health and Accident ran out. If we want to keep it, it would cost a man $47.88 a month for him and his family. Now could you afford this if you were on strike?

This article you have just read is to let the people of Circleville and surrounding areas know the union's side of the story as you have read in the newspaper only the company's side.

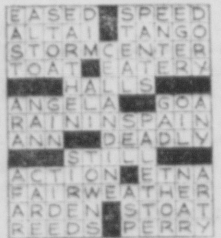

We hope you don't downgrade any of the members of this local because we are doing the only thing we can to get what we deserve and believe.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A DOCTOR was awakened at 2 a.m. by a fuzzy-voiced patient who urged, "You've got to come right over, doc. My wife has us all worried." "What's wrong with her?" asked the experienced doctor. "Is she seeing snakes and pink elephants again?" "Not a one," the patient assured him. "And that's why we're worried. The joint is full of them!"

One of the most exacting jobs extant, according to the National Geographic is that of being dietitian at a zoo. Keepers at the Bronx Zoo, for example, are ordered to a distant Italian grocery to buy costly live snails, the only food a choosy Latin-American snake will eat. Then there's a kind of leaf-cutter ant that has to be provided with yellow rose petals. Long-nosed anteaters, on the other hand, are perfectly satisfied with canned dog food.

A California sea lion would make an expensive pet. It eats 25 pounds of mackerel a day. And an elephant devours a whole ton of hay a week. A tiger's daily ration is approximately 20 pounds of vitamin-enriched horsemeat.

Better stick to that papillon or peke of yours until things pick up a bit!

Four years ago, Richard Burton promised his reasonably well-known bride, Liz Taylor, that he'd retire gracefully as soon as she learned to pronounce correctly the name of his birthplace. Mr. Burton was born in Pontrhydyfen, South Wales. Mr. Burton is still working, with commitments through 1973.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I hope you will print my letter of thanks to you. Some time ago, in one of your columns you suggested that a simple first-aid kit carried in the trunk of the car would make every automobile a potential ambulance in a crisis.

I didn't follow your advice, but someone else did.

When my daughter fell off her bicycle and her leg was bleeding profusely, a passing motorist controlled the bleeding and gave her first aid until the ambulance arrived.

The motorist carried a first-aid kit. In thanking him later he told me that he has been carrying this first-aid kit since first you suggested it in our local paper.

Again, I thank you both. And by the way, I have since put a first-aid kit in my own car.

Mr. T. P. F. R. I
Dear Mr. F. R. I: Yours is a most gratifying letter and shows again why every vehicle should have a small compact safety kit, for emergency use.

These need not be elaborate, but should contain at least the following:

Gauze bandages and pads, scissors, absorbent cotton, adhesive tape, peroxide, spirits of ammonia, a tourniquet made of rubber tubing or rope, and a multi-purpose spoon.

Many more elaborate kits are, of course, used professionally. However, these can be very confusing to the layman. Therefore, simplicity is the key to effective kits.

Far more important than the kit is the knowledge of how to handle and treat emergencies.

Certainly, every adult should know the basic rules of first aid and artificial resuscitation. The techniques are simple and are successfully taught even to Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

A new book on first aid recently came to my attention. Called "New Ways in First Aid," its author is Dr. Joel Hartley, a distinguished orthopedic surgeon in New York City.

The simple, concise and clear format makes this a ready-reference guide in acute emergencies. Such a book or other excellent volumes on first aid, should be included in the safety kit.

A moment's reference may refresh your memory and be of extreme help in an emergency.

There are few more gratifying experiences than the knowledge that you have contributed to saving a life.

The axiom that "the life you save may be your own" is valid. Add to it that the life you save may be very dear and most precious to you.

Today is Wednesday, July 14, the 195th day of 1971. There are 170 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1789, the French Revolution began as the Bastille in Paris was stormed and captured.

On this date:

In 1690 eleven French privateers captured the New England island of Martha's Vineyard, Nantucket and Block Island.

In 1798, the U.S. Congress passed a sedition act, making it a federal crime to publish false, scandalous and malicious reports about the government.

In 1853, U.S. Commodore Matthew C. Perry went ashore at Tokyo to present a letter from President Millard Fillmore to the Emperor of Japan.

In 1879, the U.S. Congress provided a yearly pension of $3,000 for President Abraham Lincoln's widow, Mary Todd Lincoln.

In 1965, Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson died on a London street of a heart attack.

In 1966, eight student nurses were found slain in an apartment on Chicago's South Side.

Ten years ago: Pope John the XIII issued an encyclical calling on prosperous nations to aid the underdeveloped countries.

Five years ago: U. S. Air Force jets firing Sidewinder missiles downed two MIGs over North Vietnam.

One year ago: The Government of Peru put the toll of dead and missing at 70,000 in an earthquake.

The Algerian government will own and operate a new multi-million dollar sports complex and will use it for future international events.

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

This summer is different, at least subtly so. The rock festival in Louisiana came to an inglorious end, partly because of the almost tropical heat, but mostly because the drugged mind cannot really carry through anything that requires sustained planning and administration. The Newport, R. I., Jazz Festival succumbed to a mob of witless gate crashers, most of them "stoned out of their heads" to quote George Wein, the festival producer. To make a nation, even a "Woodstock Nation," requires brains, which have been conspicuously lacking in the new would-be Founders.

Moreover, the Fourth of July anti-war demonstration that had been promised, sotto voce, by the New Left in New York made no particular splash. My friend, Phillip Abbott Luce, who keeps a tally of New Left doings in something called "The Pink Sheet," notes that the inheritors of the broken Students for a Democratic Society movement are the Trotskyites. The youth arm of the Trotskyite party apparently could not come up with the financing to do a big Fourth of July protest job. Says Mr. Luce, with his customary insight, the Trotskyites have "always been limited in capital resources because (they) have never been able to capture a government abroad."

The real trouble with the New Left, of course, is the decimation of its original leadership. Because the U.S. court system permits an almost interminable appeal process, nobody ever seems to go to jail for resisting "pigs" or infringing the civil liberties of the vast majority of citizens who inhabit the "straight world." But a rough justice prevails: with prosecutions impending, the pioneers of the New Left "trashing" revolution are being kept busy organizing defense after defense, which leaves them with little time to project new outrages. Then there is the lugubrious fact that the more willfully activist of the New Left leaders have blown themselves up by maladroit handling of explosives. Dynamiting, after all, requires professional knowledge, which the New Left leaders have scorned because physics and chemistry, to their way of thinking, lack educational "relevance."

Symbolically, the decline of the New Left is measured by a small thing that has come within my own purview. Last summer an appealing young fellow asked me if he could use my field and my barn to "run his dogs." I liked the boy. He seemed sensitive, and he obviously felt caged in a world that has been running out of space. He asked me, on one occasion, what I thought of his sideburns and flowing hair. When I said I didn't mind them, but couldn't help associating them with the fuddy-duddies of my grandfather's generation, all of whom tried to look like a stodgy General Grant or a bearded Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, the boy grinned. He could appreciate a useful irony.

My bad luck is that my young friend had leadership qualities. He brought friends with him, which would have been all right if it had stopped there. But the word got around that there was a barn for use by anybody who cared to use it. The night before the police broke up a rock festival at Powder Hill in central Connecticut, kids on their way to the festival site turned up from as far away as North Carolina and even

British Columbia to camp illegally in my barn. When they did some trashing, breaking out some of the barn siding, it was certainly not with my young friend's permission. Now, despite his command over his own group, could he control the noise, which brought the cops down on the invaders?

This year the barn has been quiet. My young friend, who brought those friends who, in turn, attracted the riffraff, did not appear this spring with a new request to "run his dogs." The reason: seeking a new lift outside the "system," he got himself killed somewhere in Nebraska while trying to hop a fast freight. As I say, the boy had leadership qualities. But his romanticism, which had grown upon him in the short time I knew him, betrayed him. Now he isn't around any more to galvanize his old following.

This experience, I am certain, has been multiplying itself over the whole Woodstock Nation. So we come to the end of another strange interlude in our history. This summer is subtly different because the New Left leaders have been destroying themselves.

According To Boyle

By BOB HARING (For Hal Boyle)

EAST BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Suburban status is a lot of garbage.

No longer is ranking among subdivision peers determined by the number of bathrooms in the house, the number of cars shared with the finance company or the size of the family boat.

In these days of ecology over all, it's garbage that carries the weight.

How you pack your garbage, the condition of your garbage cans, the kind of bag you use or even if you use a bag tell your story.

Even the quality of the garbage—that is, what you throw away—is a factor.

The newcomer to suburbia is labeled by his bright new cans. Whether they are colorful plastic or shiny metal tells a lot about the family, even before you meet the wife, see the dog and break up the first fight with the kids.

It says a lot more if they bring along the old garbage cans from the old neighborhood, packed with books or tools or last summer's clothes. For one thing, that probably means the company didn't pay for this move.

Then there is the numbers game. It is better to cram your garbage into a single large can, which in its loneliness on the curb bespeaks of a tidy, thrifty housekeeper who wastes not and wants not? That also carries the prestigious implication that you're saving cans and bottles and rags and papers for recycling. It also means you probably cannot safely walk through the basement for all the cans and bottles and rags and papers, but the neighbors don't know that—unless they're also saving for recycling.

Or is it better to display the remains of your good life in four or five heaping cans?

And should you include grass clippings? Or recycle them into a sticky stink of compost along the back lot line?

And how about bags? The good old brown paper supermarket sack, now made hardy against the perils of soupy garbage, competes with the plastic bag, tied neatly at the top but splitting its bottom seam.

Changes in garbage patterns can be significant.

If they've added another garbage can, he must have gotten a raise.

A DOCTOR was awakened at 2 a.m. by a fuzzy-voiced patient who urged, "You've got to come right over, doc. My wife has us all worried." "What's wrong with her?" asked the experienced doctor. "Is she seeing snakes and pink elephants again?" "Not a one," the patient assured him. "And that's why we're worried. The joint is full of them!"

One of the most exacting jobs extant, according to the National Geographic is that of being dietitian at a zoo. Keepers at the Bronx Zoo, for example, are ordered to a distant Italian grocery to buy costly live snails, the only food a choosy Latin-American snake will eat. Then there's a kind of leaf-cutter ant that has to be provided with yellow rose petals. Long-nosed anteaters, on the other hand, are perfectly satisfied with canned dog food.

A California sea lion would make an expensive pet. It eat 25 pounds of mackerel a day. And an elephant devours a whole ton of hay a week. A tiger's daily ration is approximately 2 pounds of vitamin-enriched horse meat.

Better stick to that papillon or peke of yours until thin; pick up a bit!

Four years ago, Richard Burton promised his reasonably well known bride, Liz Taylor, that he'd retire gracefully as soon as she learned to pronounce correctly the name of his birthplace. Mr. Burton was born in Pontrhydyfen, South Wales. Mr. Burton is still working, with commitments through 1973.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I hope you will print my letter of thanks to you. Some time ago, in one of your columns you suggested that a simple first-aid kit carried in the trunk of the car would make every automobile a potential ambulance in a crisis.

I didn't follow your advice, but someone else did.

When my daughter fell off her bicycle and her leg was bleeding profusely, a passing motorist controlled the bleeding and gave her first aid until the ambulance arrived.

The motorist carried a first-aid kit. In thanking him later he told me that he has been carrying this first-aid kit since first you suggested it in our local paper.

Again, I thank you both. And by the way, I have since put a first-aid kit in my own car.

Mr. T. P. F. R. I Dear Mr. F.: Yours is a most gratifying letter and shows again why every vehicle should have a small compact safety kit, for emergency use.

These need not be elaborate, but should contain at least the following:

Gauze bandages and pads, scissors, absorbent cotton, adhesive tape, peroxide, spirits of ammonia, a tourniquet made of rubber tubing or rope, and a multi-purpose spoon.

Many more elaborate kits are, of course, used professionally. However, these can be very confusing to the layman. Therefore, simplicity is the key to effective kits.

Far more important than the kit is the knowledge of how to handle and treat emergencies. Certainly, every adult should know the basic rules of first aid and artificial resuscitation. The techniques are simple and are successfully taught even to Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

A new book on first aid recently came to my attention. Called "New Ways in First Aid," its author is Dr. Joel Hartley, a distinguished orthopedic surgeon in New York City.

The simple, concise and clear format makes this a ready-reference guide in acute emergencies. Such a book or other excellent volumes on first aid, should be included in the safety kit.

A moment's reference may refresh your memory and be of extreme help in an emergency.

There are few more gratifying experiences than the knowledge that you have contributed to saving a life.

The axiom that "the life you save may be your own" is valid. Add to it that the life you save may be very dear and most precious to you.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Today is Wednesday, July 14, the 195th day of 1971. There are 170 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1789, the French Revolution began as the Bastille in Paris was stormed and captured.

On this date: In 1690 eleven French privateers captured the New England island of Martha's Vineyard, Nantucket and Block Island.

In 1798, the U.S. Congress passed a sedition act, making it a federal crime to publish false, scandalous and malicious reports about the government.

In 1853, U.S. Commodore Matthew C. Perry went ashore at Tokyo to present a letter from President Millard Fillmore to the Emperor of Japan.

In 1879, the U.S. Congress provided a yearly pension of $3,000 for President Abraham Lincoln's widow, Mary Todd Lincoln.

In 1965, Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson died on a London street of a heart attack.

In 1966, eight student nurses were found slain in an apartment on Chicago's South Side.

Ten years ago: Pope John the XIII issued an encyclical calling on prosperous nations to aid the underdeveloped countries.

Five years ago: U. S. Air Force jets firing Sidewinder missiles downed two MIGs over North Vietnam.

One year ago: the Government of Peru put the toll of dead and missing at 70,000 in an earthquake.

The Algerian government will own and operate a new multi-million dollar sports complex and will use it for future international events.

This summer is different, at least subtly so. The rock festival in Louisiana came to an inglorious end, partly because of the almost tropical heat, but mostly because the drugged mind cannot really carry through anything that requires sustained planning and administration. The Newport, R. I., Jazz Festival succumbed to a mob of witless gate crashers, most of them "stoned out of their heads" to quote George Wein, the festival producer. To make a nation, even a "Woodstock Nation," requires brains, which have been conspicuously lacking in the new would-be Founders.

Moreover, the Fourth of July anti-war demonstration that had been promised, sotto voce, by the New Left in New York made no particular splash. My friend, Phillip Abbott Luce, who keeps a tally of New Left doings in something called "The Pink Sheet," notes that the inheritors of the broken Students for a Democratic Society movement are the Trotskyites. The youth arm of the Trotskyite party apparently could not come up with the financing to do a big Fourth of July protest job. Says Mr. Luce, with his customary insight, the Trotskyites have "always been limited in capital resources because (they) have never been able to capture a government abroad."

The real trouble with the New Left, of course, is the declination of its original leadership. Because the U.S. court system permits an almost interminable appeal process, nobody ever seems to go to jail for resisting "pigs" or infringing the civil liberties of the vast majority of citizens who inhabit the "straight world." But a rough justice prevails: with prosecutions impending, the pioneers of the New Left "trashing" revolution are being kept busy organizing defense after defense, which leaves them with little time to project new outrages. Then there is the lugubrious fact that the more wily activist of the New Left leaders have blown themselves up by maladroitness handling of explosives. Dynamiting, after all, requires professional knowledge, which the New Left leaders have scorned because physics and chemistry, to their way of thinking, lack educational "relevance."

Symbolically, the decline of the New Left is measured by a small thing that has come within my own purview. Last summer an appealing young fellow asked me if he could use my field and my barn to "run his dogs." I liked the boy. He seemed sensitive, and he obviously felt caged in a world that has been running out of space. He asked me, on one occasion, what I thought of his sideburns and flowing hair. When I said I didn't mind them, but couldn't help associating them with the fuddy-duddies of my grandfather's generation, all of whom tried to look like a stodgy General Grant or a bearded Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, the boy grinned. He could appreciate rueful irony.

My bad luck is that my young friend had leadership qualities. He brought friends with him, which would have been all right if it had stopped there. But the word got around that there was a barn for use by anybody who cared to use it. The night before the police broke up a rock festival at Powder Hill in central Connecticut, kids on their way to the festival site turned up from as far away as North Carolina and even

British Columbia to camp illegally in my barn. When they did some trashing, breaking out some of the barn siding, it was certainly not with my young friend's permission. Now, despite his command over his own group, could he control the noise, which brought the cops down on the invaders.

This year the barn has been quiet. My young friend, who brought those friends who, in turn, attracted the riffraff, did not appear this spring with a new request to "run his dogs." The reason: seeking a new life outside the "system," he got himself killed somewhere in Nebraska while trying to hop a fast freight. As I say, the boy had leadership qualities. But his romanticism, which had grown upon him in the short time I knew him, betrayed him. Now he isn't around any more to galvanize his old following.

This experience, I am certain, has been multiplying itself over the whole Woodstock Nation. So we come to the end of another strange interlude in our history. This summer is subtly different because the New Left leaders have been destroying themselves.

According To Boyle

By BOB HARING (For Hal Boyle)

EAST BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Suburban status is a lot of garbage.

No longer is ranking among subdivision peers determined by the number of bathrooms in the house, the number of cars shared with the finance company or the size of the family boat.

In these days of ecology over all, it's garbage that carries the weight.

How you pack your garbage, the condition of your garbage cans, the kind of bag you use or even if you use a bag tell your story.

Even the quality of the garbage—that is, what you throw away—is a factor.

The newcomer to suburbia is labeled by his bright new cans. Whether they are colorful plastic or shiny metal tells a lot about the family, even before you meet the wife, see the dog and break up the first fight with the kids.

It says a lot more if they bring along the old garbage cans from the old neighborhood, packed with books or tools or last summer's clothes. For one thing, that probably means the company didn't pay for this move.

Then there is the numbers game. It is better to cram your garbage into a single large can, which in its loneliness on the curb bespeaks of a tidy, thrifty housekeeper who wastes not and wants not? That also carries the prestigious implication that you're saving cans and bottles and rags and papers for recycling. It also means you probably cannot safely walk through the basement for all the cans and bottles and rags and papers, but the neighbors don't know that—unless they're also saving for recycling.

Or is it better to display the remains of your good life in four or five heaping cans?

And should you include grass clippings? Or recycle them into a sticky stink of compost along the back lot line?

And how about bags? the good old brown paper supermarket sack, now made hardy against the perils of soupy garbage, competes with the plastic bag, tied neatly at the top but splitting its bottom seam.

Changes in garbage patterns can be significant.

THURSDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES:

The early morning finds you with the urge to put in effect an interesting new plan. The remainder of the day and evening finds you preoccupied with details essential to increasing your financial well-being as well as getting arrangements for the future in motion very efficiently.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)

A good day to make financial arrangements so that you can take care of all your bills and have more in reserve. Plan the repairs to real estate that will improve it and make it more valuable.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20)

You are dynamic today and can easily get others to give the favors you want and need. Do some entertaining that will gain goodwill. Start saving more money for later needs.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)

If you contact experts early you can handle those duties ahead of you well and quickly. Study plans, then carry through nicely. Celebrate with friends in the evening.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)

Try to meet the expectations of friends and gain their favor now. Repay social obligations. Make new friends among acquaintances you have met recently. Break a bad habit you have.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)

Make sure you handle those vicarious problems well, then get into the civic matters that are important. State your aims to one in authority. You will then get the backing you need.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)

You have to study matters well before making radical changes you have in mind. Plan a trip that will bring good results. Make sure not to be caught short on expenses. Allow for tips, too.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)

It is wise to keep those promises made to others and gain their respect. You can handle a personal matter nicely. Mate is in the right mood for recreation so go out together in the evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)

You can work more harmoniously with an associate now and get far better results than has been possible in the past. Then find the right means for recreation in the evening. Don't spend too much money.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)

Forget annoying conversations with others and start on work that is ahead of you. Discuss it first with co-workers and then labor as a clever team. Take it easy tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Once your work has been completed, take time to be with friends for social and recreational pleasures that are appealing. Take only small risks and keep out of trouble. Discuss worthwhile aims.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

You have to be more conscientious in handling problematical affairs at home and then all works out ideally. Try to please kin instead of bucking them. Take extra pains with dinner tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Visit those who can help by giving information you need for greater success. A good day to make reports and handle correspondence. Do important errands early.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY...

he or she will be one of those delightful young people who is most opinionated. Teach early to be more flexible in order to have more ideal dealings with others, otherwise the stubbornness here could ruin a fine promise in this chart. Give the right spiritual and ethical training early and teach to plan time for practical matters and for pleasure so that the life does not become too one-sided.

Auto Claims

Probed By FTC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Is a Ford LTD really "over 700 per cent quieter?" Are Oldsmobiles "pollution fighters?" Is the Super Beetle really different in 81 ways from Volkswagens of "yesteryear?"

Seeking the answers, the Federal Trade Commission Tuesday ordered even U.S. and foreign automobile manufacturers to submit documentation for these and other claims made in advertising.

The orders, sent to General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp., American Motors, Volkswagen of America, Toyota Motor Co. and Nissan Motor Corp., give the firms 60 days to respond.

Soon after answers are received, the information will be made public by the FT for use by consumers and competitors.

BILLIE SOL ESTES IS FREE—Released from La Tuna Federal Prison in El Paso, Tex., after serving six years of a 15-year sentence for his part in a multimillion dollar swindle, Billie Sol Estes rides with an unidentified daughter (left) and his wife, Patsy. Business Papers Made From Recycled Materials

NEENAH, Wis. (AP) — Two papers designed for business use, made from 100 per cent recycled paper, are being introduced by Kimberly - Clark Corp., the firm said Tuesday.

Made in a 20 - pound basis weight only, the letter - quality papers are the first in what the firm said would be a series of ecology grade papers.

"The 100 per cent recycled sheets are of good quality," said Richard S. Pauli, director of marketing planning. "It is whiter than most 100 per cent recycled fiberpaper."

There are other 100 per cent recycled fiberpapers on the market including those made by Riverside, Gates and Bergstrom. Kimberly - Clark's is as white as any and whiter than some, said Pauli.

The difficulty in making recycled fiber paper is in bleaching out the ink and other impurities in it, he said. And, each time fiber is recycled, the various processes weaken it so quality is hard to maintain.

The 100 per cent recycled fiber paper is made at the firm's Moraine mill at West Carrollton, Ohio. About one-half of the mill's 250 tons per day capacity now is recycled paper, he said.

The papers are made from recycled card and ledger stock, envelope clippings and other quality discards, he said. Such discards as newsprint aren't high enough quality to begin with to hold their quality through the recycling process and still produce a good-looking, good quality business paper.

SALT Session Constructive, Report Claims

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — U.S. Soviet negotiators met for an hour and 45 minutes Tuesday in the second meeting of the new round of strategic arms limitation talks—SLAT—and conference sources said the atmosphere was serious and constructive.

They meet again next Tuesday.

The two sides are concentrating this year on limiting antiballistic missiles and are trying to each accord on limiting offensive strategic weapons.

Informed sources refused to discuss the substance of the talks.

Queen Elizabeth is 45 and Prince Philip is 50.

Adm. 'Jocko' Clark Dies; 'Pacific Patton'

NEW YORK (AP) — Retired Adm. Joseph James "Jocko" Clark, known as "Patton of the Pacific" for his aggressiveness against the Japanese in World War II, died at a hospital Tuesday at the age of 77.

Family spokesmen said Clark, who saw duty in three wars and received dozens of decorations, had been ill with cancer at St. Albans Naval Hospital in Queens.

With him at the time of his death were his wife, Olga, and two daughters. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Clark served twice as assistant chief of naval operations but it was his daring in battle that distinguished his 40-year career.

In the last two years before his retirement in 1953, he served as commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet in the Korean War and received nine medals.

Clark was cited for "extraordinary heroism" in World War II when he commanded the flagship USS Hornet in a task force assault against a Japanese convoy near the Bonin Islands in the Pacific.

On a single day, the citation said, Clark's forces sank five cargo vessels, four destroyer escorts and one destroyer in enemy waters, and downed four enemy aircraft in a twin air assault under Clark's command.

Clark played a key role in developing U.S. naval aviation.

In one engagement in World War II, he took a calculated risk as planes in his command were returning at night from an attack on the Japanese fleet in the Philippine Sea.

Because most of the pilots were inexperienced at night landing, Clark ordered the ships' lights turned on, despite that there were enemy submarines in the area.

"Damn the submarines," he said. "Turn on the lights."

Clark was born in Pryor, Okla., and won appointment to the U.S. Naval Academy in 1914.

Monrovia Garden Club Holds Guest Night Picnic

Monrovia Garden Club members and guests met for the annual Family Night Picnic on the spacious lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Hatfield and son, Handy Hatfield, of Trimmer Road Monday evening.

The 17 members and 12 guests toured the gardens and with Handy as the guide learned of his hybridizing of day lilies, their care, various types of ground cover, the types of trees planted in the gardens and many ideas for flower gardens.

Mrs. Joe Sheets, president, conducted the business meeting which was opened with the pledge to the flag.

Mrs. Fran Follrod read an invitation from Mrs. Mabel Reed to the State Convention to be held Aug. 10, 11 and 12 at the Neil House in Columbus.

The therapy program and picnic at Orient State School was discussed and plans completed for noon on July 26. Mrs. Ruth O'Day and Mrs. Charles Fleming are co-hostesses. Several members volunteered to assist.

Mrs. John Drummond, chairman of the civic committee reported on the weeding of the flower beds at the fairgrounds, Monroe School and Soldier's Monument at Five Points.

Mrs. Clyde Michel and Mrs. Laura Henry will appear on radio station WCHO in Washington C. H. on July 15. Their topic will be "There's More In The Garden Than Grows In The Ground."

A lengthy discussion concerned the entry fee for the Flower Show at the fair. Members have declined to enter in previous years due to the fee and it has shown in the small number of exhibits.

Miss Laura Long presented a detailed account of the club tour of the Smoky Mountains and other places visited.

The August meeting will be held 8 p.m. Aug. 9 in Five Points United Methodist Church with Mrs. Allen Follrod, Mrs. Bruce Cochran, Mrs. John Huffman and Mrs. Christine George as hostesses. Slides of the club's recent tour will be shown.

Club Visits Gardens Of Hatfields'

Colorful day lilies at the home of Mrs. Darrell Hatfield were the setting for the July 13 meeting of the Pickaway County Garden Club. Guests were free to roam at will, viewing the many different blooms which are set in several landscape patterns. Ajuga and Hosta, ground coverings, formed a stunning background contrast for the bright blooms. Handy Hatfield, a dealer, hybridizes day lilies and club members were free to examine his special varieties. Many in attendance gathered in the shade of a huge sycamore, to enjoy the scene.

Garden clubs and individual horticulturists of this area and from far distances visit the Hatfield gardens at various times of the year.

Hostesses served sweet breads and punch on a table whose centerpiece, arranged by Mrs. Hatfield, was day lilies in soft pastels. On the walls were pictures of fruits and vegetables which Mrs. Hatfield has painted. Guests included Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, Mrs. Donald Watt and Mrs. Walter Heine.

Next month, the club will tour the old colonial garden of Hartford Renick, after which it will hold a business meeting at the home of Mrs. Miriam Weaver. Refreshments will be served there, and in Mrs. Weaver's garden water lilies will be on display.

Parties Honor Bride-Elect Margene Liff

Guest of honor at bridal parties recently was Miss Margene Liff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Liff, Route 1, Orient.

On July 24, Miss Liff will become the bride of Talmadge N. Moore Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Talmadge N. Moore Sr., Grove City. The open church wedding will take place at Grove City's United Methodist Church with the Rev. Herbert Massey officiating at 1:30 p.m.

A miscellaneous shower for Miss Liff was hosted by Miss Becky Musselman and her mother, Mrs. Pauline Musselman, at their home on June 15.

A luncheon was held June 26 at the Clarmont Steak House hosted by the bride-to-be's aunts, Mrs. Marabelle Rush, Mrs. Helen Rogers and Mrs. Pauline Musselman and her step-grandmother, Mrs. Peggy Downs.

On July 10 a kitchen shower was held at the home of Mrs. Norma Jean Warrens of Columbus, aunt of the bridegroom.

Another miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. Norma Norris and Mrs. Jeanie Graessle at the Norris residence in Timberlake.

When going on vacation have a neighbor check your house every few days. Aside from watering plants or feeding the fish, they can note any irregularities. You should also leave instructions as to what to do if a problem arises — fuses to check, or perhaps an electrician or plumber to call.

JFK Knew Southeast Asia Critical To U.S., Rostow Says

NEW YORK (AP) — Former White House adviser Walt W. Rostow says President John F. Kennedy told him late in 1961 that an American withdrawal from Vietnam would not bring peace but lead to a larger and possibly nuclear war.

Rostow, who was also an adviser in the Johnson administration and is now a member of the University of Texas faculty, commented Tuesday on the CBS television program: "The Pentagon Papers: What They Mean."

He said Kennedy "understood deeply, all the way down to the flattest statement ever made of the 'domino theory,' why Southeast Asia and its preservation as an independent area was vital to the American interest, including something which is often forgotten: its relationship to the Indian subcontinent, through Burma."

Rostow defended Johnson,

saying he did not attempt to deceive the American people "and what went on in 1964 was contingency planning."

He referred to newspaper stories, based on the papers, that said the Johnson administration reached a consensus before the 1964 election that the bombing of North Vietnam would have to begin the following year.

Daniel Ellsberg, who gave copies of the classified Pentagon study of U.S. involvement in Vietnam to the press, said on the ABC-TV Dick Cavett Show that it was "very misleading" to conclude that Johnson deceived the voters during the 1964 campaign.

"What Johnson said was, 'I'm not going to send American boys now' or, 'I'm not going to send American boys until they're needed,'" Ellsberg said. "So President Johnson may have been giving us some clues back then."

Ellsberg also said that Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's national security affairs adviser, was wrong in saying he was unaware of the existence of the Pentagon study until he read of it in The New York Times.

Ellsberg said he discussed the study with Kissinger last September. "I asked him to read it and he said he already had a copy," said Ellsberg, a former Pentagon and State Department staffer who is now a researcher at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Nixon Leads Harris Poll Over Teddy

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon leads Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., by 44 to 36 per cent with Alabama Gov. George Wallace getting 13 per cent according to a Louis Harris poll testing 1972 election possibilities.

"Suppose the 1972 election for president were being held today and you have to choose right now. Would you vote for Richard Nixon, the Republican; Senator Edward Kennedy, the Democrat; or Gov. George Wallace, the independent?"

Harris said Monday his organization asked that question at 1,614 households between June 9 and 15 among persons likely to vote in 1972.

Harris said the poll found Kennedy had strong support among black voters, with 71 per cent compared to 13 per cent for Nixon and 2 for Wallace.

Among eligible voters under 30, Kennedy was favored by 45 per cent, Nixon by 37 per cent. Of voters, over 50, Nixon was favored by 54 per cent with Kennedy getting 27 per cent and Wallace 12.

In a regional breakdown, Nixon led in the West, Midwest and South while Kennedy had an edge in the East.

Extension Of Draft Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional efforts to hammer out a bill resuming the draft have been interrupted for a week, pending a hoped-for statement from Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

"We must have a draft-extension bill for the security of this country," Sen. John C. Stennis, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said Monday in announcing the delay.

"I want to talk to M. Laird about the bill—and how badly he needs the bill, frankly."

Stennis said he hopes a statement from Laird will help muster Senate strength to break all draft-bill deadlock arising from an amendment urging U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam within nine months.

House conferees led by Armed Services Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., refuse to accept Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's nine-month deadline, approved by the Senate 57 to 42 and rejected by the House 219 to 176.

Antiwar senators have vowed to filibuster if the advisory date is removed—and Mansfield is remaining noncommittal on whether he would give his essential backing to cutting off a filibuster.

Retired Marine Gen. Keith McCutcheon Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired Marine Corps Gen. Keith McCutcheon, 55, died Tuesday at the Naval Hospital in Bethesda, Md., near Washington.

McCutcheon, a native of East Liverpool, Ohio, was to have become assistant commandant of the corps, but became ill before he took the post.

He was commander of all Marine forces in Vietnam until last December. McCutcheon was a 34-year veteran of the corps.

Food Stamps For Migrants Made Easier

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—State Welfare Director John Hansen has told 25 county welfare directors from northwestern Ohio to end procedures which make it harder for the region's 25,000 migrant farm workers to get food stamps.

Hansen told the directors in Findlay Tuesday that they must stop requiring applicants for the stamps to register for jobs with the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services.

He also said they must accept verbal statements from employers as verification of income to determine eligibility for the stamps. Hansen said where such statements cannot be obtained, the word of the applicant must be accepted.

"We're trying to make sure some people are not hiding behind old rules and regulations to make it harder for the migrants to get stamps," Hansen said.

He said requiring job registration and written income verification from applicants is both unfair and conflicts with U.S. Department of Agriculture regulations for operation of the food stamp program.

"They're already working," Hansen said. "They just don't have any money."

He added that, "A county with the policy which requires an applicant to register with the Bureau of Employment Services as a pre-condition to applying for food stamps must cease and desist from this practice immediately."

Jobs for migrant workers are becoming scarcer as producers rely increasingly on machines to do work migrants have been doing.

Phone Firm Proposes Rate Change

BELLEVUE, Ohio (AP) — A proposed rate adjustment by the Northern Ohio Telephone Co. would increase its total revenues by 13 per cent.

The company said Tuesday that it had filed an application with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio for a rate adjustment that would bring in an estimated $3.5 million additional operating revenue annually for a total of $30.3 million before taxes.

Robert M. Wopat president of the firm said the proposal includes an average 23 per cent increase in the charge for primary services, a 50-cent monthly charge for having an unlisted number, an increase in the $1 to $1.50 present monthly rates for business extensions to a flat $1-a-month rate and a flat $1-a-month rate for residential extensions.

Wopat said the present charge for residential extensions varies from 75 cents to the $1.25 month and most customers would get a 25-cent-a-month reduction.

The proposed rate increases would be the company's first in 14 years, said Wopat.

100-Knot Navy Seen By Zumwalt In Future

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With civil war threatening hundreds of Americans in Jordan, the Defense Department last fall alerted the Navy's 6th Fleet to prepare for a possible airlift.

But the fleet, steaming in the eastern Mediterranean, was short of helicopters to ferry Marines into Jordan and bring out the Americans. A task force built around the aircraft carrier Guam was dispatched quickly from Norfolk, Va.

By the time the crossing was completed—11 days later—the crisis was cooling.

Next month, in the choppy waters of Washington's Puget Sound and in the warm currents of the Gulf of Mexico, the Navy will begin testing a new type ship that could cut the long Atlantic crossing to one-fourth the time, or less.

The Navy calls them surface effect ships, turbojet-powered vessels that skim the water on a bubble of air at speeds designed for greater than 100 knots.

Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr.,

chief of naval operations, predicts they will be the forerunner of a 100-knot navy of the future and "change the whole power relationship at sea."

With their high speeds—100 knots versus 40 knots for today's swiftest destroyer—surface effect ships will be able to outrun nuclear-powered submarines, skirt around bad weather and quickly get to the action.

Rear Adm. William H. Livingston, director of the Navy's Air, Surface and Electronic Warfare Division, says surface effect ships, their size unlimited, could be adapted for any mission carried out by today's conventional men-of-war.

The admiral says enough already has been learned through studies to know that surface effect ships in the 4,000-to-5,000-ton range—about the size of today's destroyer escorts—are possible. To prove their feasibility, the Navy will test two 100-ton prototypes.

Each boat, about 80 feet long and 40 feet wide, costs $15 million.

The one built by the Bell Aerospace Corp. at Michoud, La., is propeller driven, while the entry of Aerojet-General Corp. at Tacoma, Wash., is propelled by high-pressure water jets.

It's no coincidence that the two companies chosen by the Navy to build the prototypes are known primarily for their work in aviation. Surface effect ships bring together design and engineering features from both naval architects and aeronautical engineers.

These ships make use of an air cushion or bubble created by powerful fans that lift the vessel above the water so that only the thin side edges of the hull extend below the surface. This makes them relatively free of the speed-limiting drag of conventional ships which use most of their power to push water aside.

Surface effect ships operate on the same principle as air cushion vehicles, which also hover above the water on a bubble of air. However, because these vehicles are completely out of the water, they are less stable than surface effect ships and thus limited in size, speed and mission.

Livingston sees no technological obstacles to development of surface effect ships. But if they are to become the backbone of the future Navy, their costs will have to be kept down. The admiral says it's still too early to compare their costs with present-day ships that already are beginning to price themselves out of existence.

The experimental Bell and Aerojet craft face two years of testing. In the meantime, the Navy is confident enough of their success to begin planning a 2,000-ton model.

Cool Air Touches Off Storminess

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cool air swept over the Northeast today after touching off thunderstorms and tornadoes in New England and the lower Ohio and Missouri valleys.

Several injuries were reported near Columbus, Ohio, and near Uniontown, Pa., where tornadoes caused extensive property damage.

Other twisters wrecked property in parts of Kentucky and Indiana, but no injuries were reported. Wind gusts up to 84 miles an hour hit Louisville, Ky., causing some damage.

Heavy rains splattered New York state and Knoxville, Tenn. Thunderstorms also splashed eastern Colorado and western Nebraska.

Dry heat baked the Southwest and warm and humid weather steamed the Southeast. Pleasant temperatures dominated the Midwest and Northwest.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 48 at Lewistown, Mont., to 104 at Needles, Calif.

Food Stamps For Migrants Made Easier

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—State Welfare Director John Hansan has told 25 county welfare directors from northwestern Ohio to end procedures which make it harder for the region's 25,000 migrant farm workers to get food stamps.

Hansan told the directors in Findlay Tuesday that they must stop requiring applicants for the stamps to register for jobs with the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services.

He also said they must accept verbal statements from employers as verification of income to determine eligibility for the stamps. Hansan said where such statements cannot be obtained, the word of the applicant must be accepted. JFK Knew Southeast Asia Critical To U.S., Rostow Says

NEW YORK (AP) — Former White House adviser Walt W. Rostow says President John F. Kennedy told him late in 1961 that an American withdrawal from Vietnam would not bring peace but lead to a larger and possibly nuclear war.

Rostow, who was also an adviser in the Johnson administration and is now a member of the University of Texas faculty, commented Tuesday on the CBS television program: "The Pentagon Papers: What They Mean."

He said Kennedy "understood deeply, all the way down to the flattest statement ever made of the 'domino theory,' why Southeast Asia and its preservation as an independent area was vital to the American interest, including something which is often forgotten: its relationship to the Indian subcontinent, through Burma."

Rostow defended Johnson,

saying he did not attempt to deceive the American people "and what went on in 1964 was contingency planning."

He referred to newspaper stories, based on the papers, that said the Johnson administration reached a consensus before the 1964 election that the bombing of North Vietnam would have to begin the following year.

Daniel Ellsberg, who gave copies of the classified Pentagon study of U.S. involvement in Vietnam to the press, said on the ABC-TV Dick Cavett Show that it was "very misleading" to conclude that Johnson deceived the voters during the 1964 campaign.

"What Johnson said was, 'I'm not going to send American boys now' or, 'I'm not going to send American boys until they're needed,'" Ellsberg said. "So President Johnson may have been giving us some clues back then."

Ellsberg also said that Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's national security affairs adviser, was wrong in saying he was unaware of the existence of the Pentagon study until he read it in The New York Times.

Ellsberg said he discussed the study with Kissinger last September. "I asked him to read it and he said he already had a copy," said Ellsberg, a former Pentagon and State Department staffer who is now a researcher at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Nixon Leads Harris Poll Over Teddy

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon leads Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., by 44 to 36 per cent with Alabama Gov. George Wallace getting 13 per cent according to a Louis Harris poll testing 1972 election possibilities.

"Suppose the 1972 election for president were being held today and you have to choose right now. Would you vote for Richard Nixon, the Republican; Senator Edward Kennedy, the Democrat; or Gov. George Wallace, the independent?"

Harris said Monday his organization asked that question at 1,614 households between June 9 and 15 among persons likely to vote in 1972.

Harris said the poll found Kennedy had strong support among black voters, with 71 per cent compared to 13 per cent for Nixon and 2 for Wallace.

Among eligible voters under 30, Kennedy was favored by 45 per cent, Nixon by 37 per cent. Of voters, over 50, Nixon was favored by 54 per cent with Kennedy getting 27 per cent and Wallace 12.

In a regional breakdown, Nixon led in the West, Midwest and South while Kennedy had an edge in the East.

Phone Firm Proposes Rate Change

BELLEVUE, Ohio (AP) — A proposed rate adjustment by the Northern Ohio Telephone Co. would increase its total revenues by 13 per cent.

The company said Tuesday that it had filed an application with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio for a rate adjustment that would bring in an estimated $3.5 million additional operating revenue annually for a total of $30.3 million before taxes.

Robert M. Wopat president of the firm said the proposal includes an average 23 per cent increase in the charge for primary services, a 50-cent monthly charge for having an unlisted number, an increase in the $1 to $1.50 present monthly rates for business extensions to a flat $1-a-month rate and a flat $1-a-month rate for residential extensions.

Wopat said the present charge for residential extensions varies from 75 cents to the $1.25 month and most customers would get a 25-cent-a-month reduction.

The proposed rate increases would be the company's first in 14 years, said Wopat.

Questions Unanswered On Moroccan Coup Attempt

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer
RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Many questions are unanswered in the wake of the attempted coup in Morocco and the execution of its ringleaders.

Mystery still shrouds the motives of the leaders of the rebellion and why they spared the life of King Hassan II, a conservative, pro-Western monarch and one of the leading moderates in the Arab world.

The rebels announced a "people's revolutionary committee" and proclaimed a regime of Libyan-style socialism. Yet most of the leaders were millionaires steeped in the capitalist way of life.

Was the coup just an attempt to seize power and set up a military dictatorship, or was it motivated by ideological considerations?

The 12 men named as leaders

Outbreak At Prison Said Minor

MOONSVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — West Virginia Penitentiary officials reported "a minor disturbance" Tuesday evening which broke out after an incident involving one inmate and two correctional officers.

Correction Division Director Gordon Faulkner said the incident resulted in no injuries or damage and occurred after two officers "picked up a man in South Hall who had been drinking."

Faulkner said the action "touched off resentment" among other prisoners in the South Hall section, who refused to be "locked in" by the regular 8 p.m. time.

He said the inmate may have been drinking a home-made alcoholic mixture.

Faulkner said there would be no "mass recrimination" regarding the disturbance, which lasted about three hours, but added that "a few instigators" would be brought before the prison's police court.

He said all prisoners agreed to be "locked" after he announced he would meet with "three representatives of the prisoners to discuss the dispute."

Seek Deviate In Slaying Of Youth

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Police investigating the slaying of 12-year-old Michael Klitch are looking for a sex deviate who apparently knew his way around the isolated rural Delaware County area where the boy's badly-decomposed body was found Sunday night.

The boy had been missing from his home since June 28, when he went to tennis courts near his home in Grandview Heights near Columbus. He died about two weeks ago, according to a preliminary report from a pathologist.

Michael was found in an old tool shed along a seldom-traveled path in rural Delaware County. The region is to be flooded when the proposed Alum Creek Dam is built. The body was found by a Columbus family on a berry picking expedition.

Chief Delaware County Deputy Sheriff William Lavery said the boy had no known enemies and the only possible motive appeared to be a sex crime. "We're looking at known deviates," he said.

Other officials said the killing probably did not take place in the shed, since no blood or signs of a struggle were found. Lavery said the obscurity of the place where the corpse was dumped indicate the murderer was familiar with the area.

Michael was stabbed at least 10 times in the chest. Authorities were hampered in their investigation because of the condition of the decomposed body, which was charred by an apparent attempt to burn it.

Dr. Conrad Elected To Honor Society

Dr. Nancy Lu Conrad, podiatrist at 1106 S. Court St. has been informed of her election to Pi Delta, National Podiatric Honor Society, as of June 1.

Political Parties Need New Voices

GARDEN CITY, N. Y. (AP) — "Both political parties need a generation of new voices," former Secretary of the Interior and ex-Alaska governor Walter J. Hickel told Adelphi University graduates, faculty and guests.

"Mistrust of government is running wild," Hickel said. "The people feel that the popular will is being ignored."

of the coup are all dead, 10 executed by firing squad on Tuesday and two killed during the attack on the king's summer palace Saturday. These rebels were among the elite of Morocco's army leaders, all long regarded as devoted to the king.

Hundreds of such men remain the backbone of Hassan's regime. Were some of them secret sympathizers with the coup? And will the new military security tribunal established after the coup carry out a sweeping purge of the army?

The rebels had a "death list" and systematically executed many of the king's closest advisers. Why, then, did they fail to kill the king or his strongman interior minister, Mohamed Inouir, who were both at their mercy.

The Libyan government radio broadcast a triumphant salute to the coup when it had barely begun. Did the Libyan revolutionary leaders have advance notice of the plot?

The Moroccan news agency published a list of nine of the ringleaders, along with their property holdings. They were headed by Gen. Mohamed Medbouh, who was killed by his own men—accidentally, King Hassan said later—during the attack on the palace.

Medbouh, 44, director of the king's personal military staff, owned "farms and villages throughout the kingdom," the news agency said.

GOOD OLD KEEPSAKES

"NO TWO railroad conductors' ticket-punches are exactly alike; each one is registered in the name of the conductor who uses it and is his forever. In all there are over ten thousand punches in use," a railroad historian wrote over two decades ago.

With cessation of passenger service in many parts of the country, and corresponding retirements of conductors, there now may be fewer than two thousand in use.

Punches are being acquired by ardent collectors of railroad memorabilia of all kinds, including buttons and metallic identifications from caps and uniforms of trainmen.

Because of the limited number of authentic specimens of buttons from railroads identified by the original names, the values can be expected to rise. Easier to acquire presently are symbols such as these [] in timetables, posters, unused tickets. The Nickel Plate is gone; the Seaboard is merged with the Atlantic Coast Line as the main line to Florida Line; the B. & O. was the first important railway in America; the Union Pacific completed, with Central Pacific, the first transcontinental rail route.

O'Grady Confident Of Budget Approval

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Highway Safety Director Eugene O'Grady said Tuesday Republican leaders in the Ohio House are saying privately Ohio's tax needs are about what Gov. John Gilligan says they are.

O'Grady told the Toledo Exchange Club that he is confident that whatever tax bill passes the General Assembly will include many of the basic elements of Gilligan's original tax plan, including a graduated state income tax and relief for senior citizens.

He said the GOP leadership in the House, where a tax bill is still pending, "has clearly demonstrated that the governor's assessment of the needs of the state is very close to their own private admissions."

ABOMINABLE SNOWMAN'S TRACKS?—No, just hardened tracks in man-made dirt, being examined by Robert W. Murray, engineering manager of Ford's plant in Lorain, Ohio. The man-made dirt originally was toxic sludge from production operations, but has been treated chemically to become non-toxic, inert dirt. Good for making highways, park property or other landfill.

Chafee Orders 'Exemption' For Marine, Navy Addicts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Navy John H. Chafee has ordered one-time-only exemption of drug users from punishment if they cooperate in their own rehabilitation, it has been learned.

Chafee's order covers both the Navy and the Marine Corps, which has been opposed to any blanket amnesty for drug abusers.

The directive, signed July 9, makes no mention of "amnesty." Instead it refers to "exemption" from disciplinary action or less-than-honorable discharge because of drug use or "possession incident to such use."

Marine sources indicated the wording satisfies the Corps. They said they feel amnesty has a "weak ring to it" and connotes "total forgiving of all."

"A member (of the naval service) may be granted exemption only once," Chafee decreed.

The order stresses "voluntariness" and says such disclosures must be made before a sailor or Marine is arrested for drug abuse or is officially warned he is suspected.

However, the program also extends to men who have been "involuntarily identified" in the course of tests, such as those given to men leaving Vietnam, or who are named as users by other men applying for exemption.

In these cases, those "involuntarily identified" or named will be given a chance to ask for the exemption.

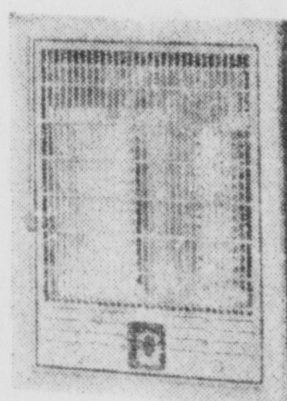

The test of "sincerity" will be applied, As Chafee put it, "A member must be sincere in seeking to eliminate his drug dependence in order to qualify for exemption." He added that a man's "declared intention to cooperate fully in his own rehabilitation program" will be enough evidence of this.

If a man fails to cooperate after receiving exemption, Chafee said, he will be open to "appropriate administrative or punitive action" for future drug offenses.

Chafee stipulated that men asking for exemption "are not required to identify other drug abusers" as a condition.

Questions Unanswered On Moroccan Coup Attempt

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer
RABAT, Morocco (AP) —
Many questions are unanswered in the wake of the attempted coup in Morocco and the execution of its ringleaders.

Mystery still shrouds the motives of the leaders of the rebellious and why they spared the life of King Hassan II, a conservative, pro-Western monarch and one of the leading moderates in the Arab world.

The rebels announced a "people's revolutionary committee" and proclaimed a regime of Libyan-style socialism.
Yet most of the leaders were millionaires steeped in the capitalist way of life.

Was the coup just an attempt to seize power and set up a military dictatorship, or was it motivated by ideological considerations?

The 12 men named as leaders of the coup are all dead, 10 executed by firing squad on Tuesday and two killed during the attack on the king's summer palace Saturday. These rebels were among the elite of Mo-rocco's army leaders, all long regarded as devoted to the king.

Hundreds of such men remain the backbone of Hassan's regime. Were some of them secret sympathizers with the coup? And will the new military security tribunal established after the coup carry out a sweeping purge of the army?

The rebels had a "death list" and systematically executed many of the king's closest advisers. Why, then, did they fail to kill the king or his strongman interior minister, Mohamed Oufkir, who were both at their mercy.

The Libyan government radio broadcast a triumphant salute to the coup when it had barely begun. Did the Libyan revolutionary leaders have advance notice of the plot?

The Moroccan news agency published a list of nine of the ringleaders, along with their property holdings. They were headed by Gen. Mohamed Medbouh, who was killed by his own men—accidentally. King Hassan said later—during the attack on the palace.

Medbouh, 44, director of the king's personal military staff, owned "farms and villages throughout the kingdom," the news agency said.

Outbreak At Prison Said Minor

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. (AP) —
West Virginia Penitentiary officials reported "a minor disturbance" Tuesday evening which broke out after an incident involving one inmate and two correctional officers.

Correction Division Director
Gordon Faulkner said the incident resulted in no injuries or damage and occurred after two officers "picked up a man in South Hall who had been drinking."

Faulkner said the action
"touched off resentment"
among other prisoners in the South Hall section, who refused to be "locked in" by the regular 8 p.m. time.

He said the inmate may have been drinking a home-made alcoholic mixture.

Faulkner said there would be no "mass recrimination" regarding the disturbance, which lasted about three hours, but added that "a few instigators" would be brought before the prison's police court.

He said all prisoners agreed to be "locked" after he announced he would meet with
"three representatives of the prisoners to discuss the dispute."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —
Police investigating the slaying of 12-year-old Michael Klitch are looking for a sex deviate who apparently knew his way around the isolated rural Delaware County area where the boy's badly-decomposed body was found Sunday night.

The boy had been missing from his home since June 28, when he went to tennis courts
near his home in Grandview Heights near Columbus. He died about two weeks ago, according to a preliminary report from a pathologist.

Michael was found in an old tool shed along a seldom-traveled path in rural Delaware County. The region is to be flooded when the proposed Alum Creek Dam is built. The body was found by a Columbus family on a berry picking expedition.

Chief Delaware County Deputy Sheriff William Lavery said the boy had no known enemies and the only possible motive appeared to be a sex crime.
"We're looking at known deviates," he said.

Other officials said the killing probably did not take place in the shed, since no blood or signs of a struggle were found.
Lavery said the obscurity of the place where the corpse was dumped indicate the murderer was familiar with the area.

Michael was stabbed at least 10 times in the chest. Authorities were hampered in their investigation because of the condition of the decomposed body, which was charred by an apparent attempt to burn it.

NO TWO railroad conde-mors' ticket-punches are exactly alike; each one is registered in the name of the conductor who uses it and is his forever. In all there are over ten thousand punches in use," a railroad historian wrote over two decades ago.

With cessation of passenger service in many parts of the country, and corresponding retirements of conductors, there now may be fewer than two thousand in use.

Punches are being acquired by ardent collectors of railroad memorabilia of all kinds, including buttons and metallic identifications from caps and uniforms of trainmen.

Because of the limited number of authentic specimens of buttons from railroads identified by the original names, the values can be expected to rise. Easier to acquire presently are symbols such as these [] in timetables, posters, unused tickets. The Nickel Plate is gone; the Seaboard is merged with the Atlantic Coast Line as the main line

tral Pacific, the first transcontinental rail route.

Of Budget Approval

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Highway Safety Director Eugene O'Grady said Tuesday Republican leaders in the Ohio House are saying privately Ohio's tax needs are about what Gov. John Gilligan says they are.

O'Grady told the Toledo Exchange Club that he is confident that whatever tax bill passes the General Assembly will include many of the basic elements of Gilligan's original tax plan, including a graduated state income tax and relief for senior citizens.

He said the GOP leadership in the House, where a tax bill is still pending, "has clearly demonstrated that the governor's assessment of the needs of the state is very close to their own private admissions."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Navy John H.
Chafee has ordered one-time-only exemption of drug users from punishment if they cooperate in their own rehabilitation, it has been learned.

Chafee's order covers both the Navy and the Marine Corps, which has been opposed to any blanket amnesty for drug abusers.

The directive, signed July 9, makes no mention of "amnesty." Instead it refers to "exemption" from disciplinary action or less-than-honorable discharge because of drug use or "possession incident to such use."

Marine sources indicated the wording satisfies the Corps.
They said they feel amnesty has a "weak ring to it" and connotes "total forgiving of all."

"A member (of the naval service) may be granted exemption only once," Chafee declared.

The order stresses "volun-taryness" and says such disclosures must be made before a sailor or Marine is arrested for drug abuse or is officially warned he is suspected.

However, the program also extends to men who have been "involuntarily identified" in the course of tests, such as those given to men leaving Vietnam, or who are named as users by other men applying for exemption.

In these cases, those "involuntarily identified" or named will be given a chance to ask for the exemption.

The test of "sincerity" will be applied. As Chafee put it,
"A member must be sincere in seeking to eliminate his drug dependence in order to qualify

Mrs. Georgia Sweet — 869-2462

The community extends its sympathy to Miss Rose Adene Hoffman, whose father, Mr. Frederick C. Hoffman of Grove City, passed away July 4. Mr. Hoffman was 69.

A good number of Derby residents attended the Horse Show and July 4 and 5 celebration at Clark's Lake over the holiday weekend.

The annual Derby Homecoming and Fish Fry will be held July 28, 29 and 30 this year.

Westfall's new band majorettes, mentioned in a recent column drew top honors at the National Majorette Clinic held from June 30 - July 3 at Muskingum College. The five member team includes Beverly McDill, head majorette, Cheryl Miller, Diane Snyder, Melanie Bliss and Janet Schleich.

Miss Deborah Oakley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Oakley of Clark's Lake will become the bride of Marc Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Taylor of Grove City on Saturday, July 17. The event will take place in the Grove City United Methodist Church.

Debbie was honored with a miscellaneous shower hosted by Gerry Blakely of Grove City and her sister, Miss Nancy Kellner at the Kellner home near Grove City. Among 22 guests present were Debbie's mother, Mrs. John Oakley, the groom's mother, Mrs. Ralph Taylor and sister Stephanie.

Debbie received many lovely and useful gifts.

Sunday callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Sweet were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Brown and son Robbie of Ashville and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chaffin and sons of Orient.

The community welcomes the Rev. and Mrs. Printis Spear, who come to us from the Jasper charge and hope they will be with us for a long time.

We are really glad to hear that Dorothy Sweet, who was quite ill recently, is feeling much better. Lots o' luck, Dorothy.

Man Flees From Court In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Leon Cunningham didn't want to wait in jail to stand trial on forgery charges, so he walked out of a second-floor courtroom, down the stairs and then ran out the front door of the building and escaped.

Cuyahoga County Deputy Sheriff T. A. Johnson who was guarding Cunningham and about 50 other defendants by himself Monday morning said, "I just turned around and he was gone."

The 45-year-old Cunningham escaped shortly after having his bond raised from $2,000 to $20,000 at an arraignment hearing before Common Pleas Judge Frank Gorman on a February indictment charging him with taking a television set from Sears, Roebuck & Co. by forging a credit charge slip.

He is also awaiting trial on two other forgery charges involving a false oil company credit card charge.

Gorman said he raised Cunningham's bond because Cunningham has been in the Ohio Penitentiary and the Ohio Reformatory a total of six times.

A policeman who watched Cunningham run out the door told deputies afterwards that he thought Cunningham was running to catch a bus.

Betty Furness Quits Position

NEW YORK (AP) — Betty Furness, who struck it rich selling refrigerators on television but found the state's Republican legislature cool to her ideas, eyed a position in big business today as a means to help the nation's consumers.

"I want to get out of government," Miss Furness said Monday after quitting her $31,000-a-year post as Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's adviser on consumer affairs. "I'd like to be on the board of directors of some big companies and work for the consumer from the inside. Industry has been short-sighted in not putting consumer representatives on their boards."

Miss Furness said she resigned after 11 months in the job because the legislature "simply refused to be serious about the consumer."

Demo Senators Prod Nixon To Act On Red Peace Offer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Democratic senators are asking the Senate to prod President Nixon to urgently pursue Communist proposals for a peace settlement in South Vietnam.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, the Republican leader, has labeled "the sheerest idiocy" suggestions by some Americans for quick, complete acceptance of terms offered by Hanoi and the Viet Cong.

While Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he understands administration reserve in considering the proposals, they may "contain light for a final peace settlement."

"As I see it, the time to find out is now," Mansfield said.

Sens. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., and Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., proposed a resolution to have the Senate declare: "The highest urgency of this administration shall be to pursue promptly, with good faith, and with full resources at its disposal, the current proposals."

Their resolution also would urge that the sole consideration in negotiations about the Communist terms be an agreement providing for release of U.S.

prisoners simultaneously with withdrawal of American forces.

Scott told the Senate Monday that, in addition to those points, the Communist plan includes a demand that the United States pay war reparations to Hanoi, that all American bases be dismantled and all military equipment removed.

The terms, he said, also include a call for coalition government, which implies setting aside results of South Vietnamese elections due this fall.

The resolution Eagleton and Mondale proposed would declare a peace agreement based on U.S. withdrawal and prisoner release would not be contingent on or delayed until the October elections.

Scott would not comment on the resolution. But he said in a Senate speech the Viet Cong proposal should be examined, negotiated, traded not grabbed—grabbed—by the United States.

Senate Bill Makes Attempted Robbery Crime

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Senate Tuesday passed legislation to make attempted robbery a crime in Ohio.

Sponsored by Sen. Robert Secrest, D-20 Cambridge, the bill sets a penalty of from 1 to 15 years in prison for attempted robbery; from 3-15 years for an attempt to rob a bus or cab driver; and, 5-20 years for attempted robbery while armed.

State law now provides penalties only for robberies that are successful or that result in an assault.

The bill, Secrest said, was drafted on request from a Muskingum County prosecutor following an attempted robbery last year.

Seeing a man, masked and with a drawn gun, approaching the lobby, Secrest recounted, a frightened night motel clerk ran for help. No robbery was committed. There was no physical assault.

The would-be bandit was later captured, but charges could not be brought against him under existing statutes.

Secrest said he agreed with the prosecutor that "there ought to be a law."

The vote on the measure was 27-0. It moves now to the House.

The Senate passed 22-5 legislation to permit county commissioners to hire construction managers and consultants for county building projects.

In a departure from standard practice, the bill does not require that the positions be awarded on an open and competitive basis.

Most all public contracts are let on competitive bid.

Sponsors William Taft, R-26, and Morris Jackson, D-21, both Cleveland senators, said the hiring of managers and consultants to coordinate various phases of major construction projects would result in considerable savings in both time and money to taxpayers.

Sen. Robert Shaw, R-16 Columbus, disagreed.

This creates another level of government, and another level of government means more expenses," he said.

Shaw said he could envision abuses by county commissioners in awarding large managing and consulting fees on construction projects.

Three things — strikes, bad weather, and the unavailability of materials — are the only causes of construction delays now, Shaw said.

"It already behooves a contractor to get the work done. There is a penalty if it is late."

The measure allows commissioners to select consultants and managers and to set compensation for them.

The measure moves now to the House where Senate sources say its fate is uncertain.

The Senate passed by a 27-0 vote a measure to conform Ohio laws to the federal Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act of 1968.

The act, in force since the middle 1950s, provides procedures for interstate cooperation to enforce support obligations.

The legislation passed Tuesday:

—Expands and clarifies the rights of public welfare officers to prosecute civil actions to collect support due a welfare recipient.

—Requires the state's attorney general to assist in locating those failing to meet support obligations.

—Simplifies procedures for registering and enforcing support orders.

The measure now goes to the governor.

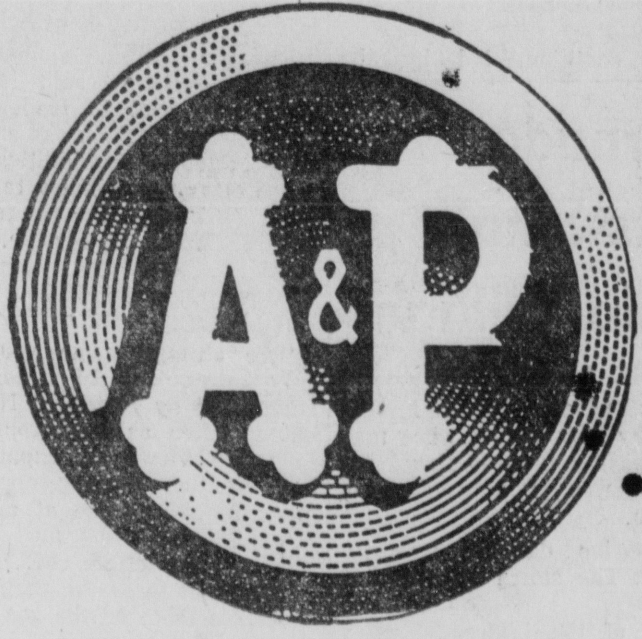

The House in early morning action passed four pieces of legislation, including a bill to provide a credit against the Ohio use tax for sales taxes paid to another state on purchases of tangible personal property — cars, boats, mobile homes, airplanes and construction equipment primarily. Loss to the state has been estimated at $1-3 million a year.

Probe Prescription Flaws In Cleveland

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State Medical Board investigators and Cleveland vice squad officers are looking into complaints that several Cleveland doctors may be prescribing narcotics illegally.

A board spokesman said doctors may not traffic in such drugs or prescribe them without a physical examination.

He said, however, that a physician may prescribe narcotics to a known addict if it is in "the best interest of medical practice."

Set Challenge To Military Protest Rule

LAKENHEATH, England (AP) — Capt. Thomas Culver says he will challenge the constitutionality of the U.S. Air Force's ban on demonstrations under which he was convicted Tuesday.

An Air Force court-martial by eight officers on Tuesday found the 32-year-old lawyer from Westfield, N. J., guilty of participating in a demonstration against the Vietnam war in London May 31 and of soliciting other servicemen to join in it. It was the first time an American serviceman was tried in Britain on charges of demonstrating.

Servicemen abroad are banned from taking part in such demonstrations although they may do so in the United States while out of uniform and off duty. Culver said he would appeal his conviction and would take the case all the way to the Supreme Court if necessary.

"This is an important test case raising so many constitutional issues," Culver said. "It will force the military to look again at the constitutional rights of the First Amendment."

He expressed confidence that the Court of Military Appeals in Washington would decide in his favor.

The tiny courtroom at the Lakenheath Air Base near Cambridge was packed Tuesday at the climax of the trial. When the verdict was read, girls among the spectators cried.

New Holland Okays Budget

A tentative budget of $27,889 for 1972 was approved unanimously by New Holland Village Council Monday. The budget will be submitted to the Pickaway County Commissioners for acceptance or rejection.

Budget provisions are $22,189 for the general fund and $5,700 for the street fund.

Senate Bill Makes Attempted Robbery Crime

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Senate Tuesday passed legislation to make attempted robbery a crime in Ohio.

Sponsored by Sen. Robert Secrest, D-20 Cambridge, the bill sets a penalty of from 1 to 15 years in prison for attempted robbery; from 3-15 years for an attempt to rob a bus or cab driver; and, 5-20 years for attempted robbery while armed.

State law now provides penalties only for robberies that are successful or that result in an assault.

The bill, Secrest said, was drafted on request from a Muskingum County prosecutor following an attempted robbery last year.

Seeing a man, masked and with a drawn gun, approaching the lobby, Secrest recounted, a frightened night motel clerk ran for help. No robbery was committed. There was no physical assault.

The would-be bandit was later captured, but charges could not be brought against him under existing statutes.

Secrest said he agreed with the prosecutor that "there oughta be a law."

The vote on the measure was 27-0. It moves now to the House.

The Senate passed 22-5 legislation to permit county commissioners to hire construction managers and consultants for county building projects.

In a departure from standard practice, the bill does not require that the positions be awarded on an open and competitive basis.

Most all public contracts are let on competitive bid.

Sponsors William Taft, R-26, and Morris Jackson, D-21, both Cleveland senators, said the hiring of managers and consultants to coordinate various phases of major construction projects would result in considerable savings in both time and money to taxpayers.

Sen. Robert Shaw, R-16 Columbus, disagreed.

This creates another level of government, and another level of government means more expenses," he said.

Shaw said he could envision abuses by county commissioners in awarding large managing and consulting fees on construction projects.

Three things — strikes, bad weather, and the unavailability of materials — are the only causes of construction delays now, Shaw said.

"It already behooves a contractor to get the work done. There is a penalty if it is late."

The measure allows commissioners to select consultants and managers and to set compensation for them.

PhD Earned It - So Call Him 'Doctor'

DEAR ABBY: In your column I saw the question of whether or not one who has earned a PhD degree should be addressed as "Doctor." Why not?

It irks me no end that in the United States only medical doctors are addressed as "Doctor." On the other hand, in Germany, any uneducated goose who happens to be married to a doctor calls herself "Frau Doktor."

IRKED

DEAR IRKED: Save your irk. Any dummkopf can tell in two minutes whether the frau married the title or earned it.

DEAR ABBY: Carol and I have been married for 12 years and we get along better than most married couples I've seen. I work for an international company, and I've had four promotions since our marriage. Each promotion has meant moving to another state.

The first time we moved I noticed my wife had this old trunk filled with love letters, pictures, souvenirs and junk from previous boy friends. She collected ashtrays from restaurants every time she had a date. They are all labeled. This trunk has got to weigh 200 pounds.

I was annoyed to think she'd hang on to all that junk, but I didn't say anything. Now I am really burned! After 12 years, she is still hauling this stuff around the country. I think it's time she got rid of it, but she doesn't want to play the role of jealous husband. What is your opinion, and what should I do?

CAROL'S QUIET MAN

DEAR MAN: The "junk" belongs to your wife, and if she wants to haul it all over the world for the next 50 years, it's her privilege. You've been smart to be quiet about it. Don't spoil it now. When Carol decides she doesn't need those souvenirs anymore, she'll throw them out of her own accord. Apparently, she still needs a little support for her sagging ego. Or she could just be sentimental.

DEAR ABBY: I am 60 and the lady I am dating is 55. I take her out to dinner twice a week, and we always go to the finest places.

I am in business for myself and I carry my business cards with me at all times. When I give waiters and waitresses a tip, which is always 20 percent of the bill, I give them one of my business cards, too. I figure as long as I'm helping them make a living, they can also give me a break if they need anything in my line.

My lady friend says that this is not done in the best of society, and it's embarrassing for me. Who is right?

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE DEAR "IT": The lady is right. I agree, it does pay to advertise, but there are subtler ways of doing it.

U.S. Jury Probes Viet Stories

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury in Boston is probing possible criminal charges against three East Coast newspapers in connection with publication of secret Pentagon documents, says The Washington Post.

The Post, The New York Times and The Boston Globe are subjects of the investigation, the Post said, in today's editions, quoting unnamed sources.

The Post said details of the investigation are shrouded in secrecy.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell has said the Supreme Court decision allowing publication of the documents and related stories does not stand in the way of criminal prosecution.

Dr. Daniel Ellsberg, who has admitted leaking the papers to the press, has been charged with unauthorized possession of classified documents. The Pentagon papers are an outline of U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

The Post sources said Ellsberg was not involved in the initial Boston investigation.

Views On TV-Radio

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The sun beat down on Stage 27 and inside it was eerily still and unbearably hot.

The rumbling air conditioning system had been turned off for a bedroom scene between Lloyd Bridges and Janet Leigh. The director, Alf Kjalen, who had studied under Ingmar Bergman in Sweden, watched from behind the camera.

The crew was at work on a film commodity that is becoming as hot as the air on that sound stage—the television movie.

Four series of television movies are being produced for the fall season. It will be the first time that all three networks have had a series. ABC will have two, the highly successful "Movie of the Week" on Tuesday nights and the new "Movie of the Weekend" on Saturday nights.

The two ABC film packages are 90-minutes each, as is the new CBS "Friday Night Movies." The NBC "World Premiere Movie," also set for Friday nights, will be two hours.

Kjalen, directing "The Deadly Dream," said he liked the 90-minute form, but said, "I just wish we had twice as much time. Ten days is not a long time to make a picture."

"The Deadly Dream," a mystery thriller for the weekend movie, is about a man who is unable to tell whether his dreams or his waking hours are real. Kjalen said, "I don't know yet how I want it to end. It's a matter of opinion as to which version you believe."

The new weekend package of films is under the direction of Lillian Gallo, a program executive at 20th Century-Fox for 10 years before joining ABC.

Right Coalition Demands Demo Statement On Housing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Demanding Nixon administration housing policies, a civil rights coalition has called on Democratic presidential hopefuls to set forth their own programs for open housing in the suburbs.

The coalition, led by the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, said that while President Nixon "diagnosed a cancer and prescribed aspirin as a remedy," major Democratic figures will not even declare themselves on so sensitive an issue as suburban housing.

Bayard Rustin, spokesman for the coalition, said letters have been sent to leaders of both parties in Congress and to all presidential possibilities. He made clear the primary targets are such Democratic figures as Sens. Edmund S. Muskie, Edward M. Kennedy, George S. McGovern and Hubert H. Humphrey.

"We strongly urge you not only to respond to policy as enunciated by President Nixon, but to offer as well your affirmative views on expanding and creating housing opportunities for all people at all income levels in an open society," the letters said.

"We want to smoke them out and force them on the record," said Rustin.

While commending the President for taking first steps toward solutions, the coalition accused Nixon of failing to exercise moral leadership, leaving loopholes in regulations, and ignoring important causes of housing discrimination.

The group said Nixon failed to counter white prejudices and fears in his June 11 housing statement and unduly emphasized limitations of federal power.

"It is simply unacceptable for the administration to suggest that the government... is powerless to correct a fundamental injustice which it has helped to create," the rights group said.

Tornado Hits Small Ohio Village

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five persons were injured Tuesday night when what may have been a tornado struck the tiny Guernsey County village of Antrim.

Extensive damage was reported. The storm hit about 10 p.m.

Two of the injured, Stanley Dunlap, 84, and his son, Paul, 54, were admitted to Guernsey Memorial Hospital in fair condition.

The elder Dunlap's wife, Ester 77, was treated at the hospital for cuts and then released. Also treated and released were Mrs. Mary Galloway and her four-year-old daughter Erin Lynn, whose trailer home was demolished by the storm.

L-O-F Sales Rise; Earnings Increase

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Libby-Owens-Ford of Toledo Tuesday reported higher sales and earnings for the second quarter and first half of 1971.

Company President Robert Wingerter said sales were $139.3 million for the quarter compared with $126.8 million for the same period in 1970. Net earnings per common share for the quarter were $1.19 compared to 83 cents last year.

Consolidated sales of $279.5 million for the first half of 1971 were the highest reported six months' sales in company history.

DEAR ABBY: Carol and I have been married for 12 years and we get along better than most married couples I've seen. I work for an international company, and I've had four promotions since our marriage. Each promotion has meant moving to another state.

The first time we moved I noticed my wife had this old trunk filled with love letters, pictures, souvenirs and junk from previous boy friends. She collected ashtrays from restaurants everywhere she had a date. They are all labeled. This trunk has got to weigh 200 pounds.

I was annoyed to think she'd hang on to all that junk, but I didn't say anything. Now I am really burned! After 12 years, she is still hauling this stuff around the country. I think it's time she got rid of it, but don't want to play the role

CAROL'S QUIET MAN
DEAR MAN: The "junk" belongs to your wife, and if she wants to haul it all over the world for the next 50 years, it's her privilege. You've been smart to be quiet about it. Don't spoil it now. When Carol decides she doesn't need those souvenirs anymore, she'll throw them out of her own accord. Apparently, she still needs a little support for her sagging ego. Or she could just be sentimental.

DEAR ABBY: I am 60 and the lady I am dating is 55. I take her out to dinner twice a week, and we always go to the finest places.

I am in business for myself and I carry my business cards with me at all times. When I give waiters and waitresses a tip, which is always 20 percent of the bill, I give them one of my business cards, too. I figure as long as I'm helping them make a living, they can also give me a break if they need anything in my line.

My lady friend says that this is not done in the best of society, and it's embarrassing for me. Who is right?

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE
DEAR "IT": The lady is right. I agree, it does pay to advertise, but there are subtler ways of doing it.

U.S. Jury Probes Viet Stories

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury in Boston is probing possible criminal charges against three East Coast newspapers in connection with publication of secret Pentagon documents, says The Washington Post.

The Post, The New York Times and The Boston Globe are subjects of the investigation, the Post said, in today's editions, quoting unnamed sources.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell has said the Supreme Court decision allowing publication of the documents and related stories does not stand in the way of criminal prosecution.

Dr. Daniel Ellsberg, who has admitted leaking the papers to the press, has been charged with unauthorized possession of classified documents. The Pentagon papers are an outline of U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

The Post sources said Ellsberg was not involved in the initial Boston investigation.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The sun beat down on Stage 27 and inside it was eerily still and unbearably hot.

The rumbling air conditioning system had been turned off for a bedroom scene between Lloyd Bridges and Janet Leigh. The director, Alf Kjalen, who had studied under Ingmar Bergman in Sweden, watched from behind the camera.

The crew was at work on a film commodity that is becoming as hot as the air on that sound stage—the television movie.

Four series of television movies are being produced for the fall season. It will be the first time that all three networks have had a series. ABC will have two, the highly successful "Movie of the Week" on Tuesday nights and the new "Movie of the Weekend" on Saturday nights.

The two ABC film packages are 90-minutes each, as is the new CBS "Friday Night Movies." The NBC "World Premiere Movie," also set for Friday nights, will be two hours.

Kjalen, directing "The Deadly Dream," said he liked the 90-minute form, but said, "I just wish we had twice as much time. Ten days is not a long time to make a picture."

"The Deadly Dream," a mystery thriller for the weekend movie, is about a man who is unable to tell whether his dreams or his waking hours are real. Kjalen said, "I don't know yet how I want it to end. It's a matter of opinion as to which version you believe."

The new weekend package of films is under the direction of Lillian Gallo, a program executive at 20th Century-Fox for 10 years before joining ABC.

L-O-F Sales Rise; Earnings Increase

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Libby-Owens-Ford of Toledo Tuesday reported higher sales and earnings for the second quarter and first half of 1971.

Company President Robert Wingerter said sales were $139.3 million for the quarter compared with $126.8 million for the same period in 1970. Net earnings per common share for the quarter were $1.19 compared to 83 cents last year.

Consolidated sales of $279.5 million for the first half of 1971 were the highest reported six months' sales in company history.

Right Coalition Demands Demo Statement On Housing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Demanding Nixon administration housing policies, a civil rights coalition has called on Democratic presidential hopefuls to set forth their own programs for open housing in the suburbs.

The coalition, led by the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, said that while President Nixon "diagnosed a cancer and prescribed aspirin as a remedy," major Democratic figures will not even declare themselves on so sensitive an issue as suburban housing.

Bayard Rustin, spokesman for the coalition, said letters have been sent to leaders of both parties in Congress and to all presidential possibilities. He made clear the primary targets are such Democratic figures as Sens. Edmund S. Muskie, Edward M. Kennedy, George S. McGovern and Hubert H. Humphrey.

"We strongly urge you not only to respond to policy as enunciated by President Nixon, but to offer as well your affirmative views on expanding and creating housing opportunities for all people at all income levels in an open society," the letters said.

"We want to smoke them out and force them on the record," said Rustin.

While commending the President for taking first steps toward solutions, the coalition accused Nixon of failing to exercise moral leadership, leaving loopholes in regulations, and ignoring important causes of housing discrimination.

The group said Nixon failed to counter white prejudices and fears in his June 11 housing statement and unduly emphasized limitations of federal power.

"It is simply unacceptable for the administration to suggest that the government... is powerless to correct a fundamental injustice which it has helped to create," the rights group said.

Tornado Hits Small Ohio Village

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Five persons were injured Tuesday night when what may have been a tornado struck the tiny Guernsey County village of Antrim.

Extensive damage was reported. The storm hit about 10 p.m.

Two of the injured, Stanley Dunlap, 84, and his son, Paul, 54, were admitted to Guernsey Memorial Hospital in fair condition.

The Dunlaps reportedly were in their barn when it was leveled by the wind, along with their neighboring farm house.

The elder Dunlap's wife, Ester, 77, was treated at the hospital for cuts and then released. Also treated and released were Mrs. Mary Galloway and her four-year-old daughter Erin Lynn, whose trailer home was demolished by the storm.

Coke, AL, Purina Take Major Tilts

Coca Cola, American Legion, and Purina were winners in tight Major league play Tuesday night.

Coca Cola edged Bingmans 7-6 making Coke 9-0 for the season. Allen Ranck pitched the win for Coke allowing eight hits, striking out four and walking four. In the last inning he was assisted by the arm of Biff Bumgarner who struck out two. Bumgarner blasted two homers and got five RBI's for Coke while Perry Oberly cracked a double to aid in the win.

JEFF Funk pitched for Bingmans giving up four hits, striking out nine and walking seven.

Hitting for Bingmans were Bill Morgan with a double and a single, Funk connecting for a double and Kevin Lewis, who smacked two singles. American Legion pulled ahead of BPOE in the second inning and won 4-3.

Bob Fuller threw off the mound for Legion and allowed six hits, struck out five and walked one.

Hitting for Legion were Bob Baranick who blasted a triple, Larry Oiler who rounded off the hits with a double and single. Oiler also drove in all four Legion runs.

Brad Allison and Toren Bensonhaver were on the mound for the Elks, allowing seven hits, striking out 10 and walking four.

JOE Morgan and Jim Willison both cracked doubles for BPOE.

Purina won over Hawks 12-9 in another close Major league tilt.

Todd Mancini was the winning pitcher and Lloyd Cline was the loser.

Jerry Strawser and Herb Lutz slugged triples for Purina and Tim Brown hit a double.

Hitting for Hawks was Brian Fath with a triple.

Hummel And Plum, CAP Win Mosquito Contests

Hummel and Plum and Circle Auto Parts were winners in Tuesday night Mosquito league action.

Hummel and Plum held Hill's Implement scoreless to win 9-0. Jeff Rae and Teddy Robinson did the pitching for Hummel and Plum, giving up four hits, striking out 11 and walking only three.

Steve Jolliffe was the leading hitter for Hummel and Plum, smacking a two bagger and a single.

BILLY Archer and Larry Pennington were on the mound for Hill's giving up four hits, striking out 14 and walking 11.

Mike Linton cracked a double for the losers while Archer hit a double and single.

Circle Auto Parts beat FOPA, 13-10, after outscoring FOPA in all but one inning.

The winning pitcher was Craig Gifford who allowed seven hits and the losing pitcher was Dave McKinney, giving up 14 hits.

Hitting for CAP were D. Immiller with a triple and two doubles, John Adams hit a double, Ty Caudill clubbed a double, Jack Fuller got a double, Todd Caudill connected for two singles and Gifford ripped three singles. Brown smacked a double for FOPA as Pat Cuellar hit a double and a single.

Savings Bank Downs VFW

Savings Bank blanked VFW, 3-0, in a Pony League fray played Tuesday night.

Stergel and Rose combined on the mound to gain the victory for the bankers.

Watters handled the mound chores for VFW.

Rose had three hits to pace the winning nine, Sturgel added two safeties while Dray, Ramsey, Neal, Bohinko and Waites each had one hit in the winning effort.

Watters rapped two safeties while Moore and McGlone each added a single for the losers.

Kiwanis Defeats Lindsey's, 8-2

Kiwanis won over Lindsey's 8-2 in the only Babe Ruth league game played Tuesday night.

Rocky Davis was in there pitching for Kiwanis, giving up six hits fanning six and walking two.

Paul England and Perry Hoskins were the losing pitchers, giving up nine hits, walking four and striking out six.

McFadden Fires 37 In PCC Play

Larry McFadden fired a 37 to capture low gross while Dick Alkire and Bob Fraser tied for low net with 32 in Pickaway Country Club Men's action Tuesday.

Team No. 5 was the winning group with 21 points. Team members are Howie Davies, Ron Berlin, Roger Bennington, Bob Fraser, Paul Butz, Dennis Johnson, Neil Hamilton and Hugh Knipmeyer.

Team No. 5 leads second round play with 21 points, Team No. 8 is second with 19 and Team No. 6 is third with 16 1/2 points.

Stoutsville, Logan Elm Win In Tri County

Logan Elm blasted Bremen, 19-2, to take sole possession of first place in Tri County Pony League while Stoutsville out-slugged Washington, 13-10 in a Mosquito League clash.

Steve Marshall scattered three hits, all singles, as he hurled Logan Elm into the top spot in the league. He fanned seven and gave up five free passes in the contest.

Scott Pontius led the winners batting attack with a homerun and three singles, Mark Justus smacked two triples and a double, Greg Justus a three bagger and a single while Mike Holbrook and Phil Manson each had a pair of singles in the winning effort.

Logan Elm is now 7-1 in league play and will host Laurelville Friday.

K. C. KERN gave up four hits as Stoutsville handed Washington its first loss in league action.

James was the losing pitcher as he was rapped for eight hits by the Stoutsville swingers.

Dennis Compton had a double and single for Stoutsville while Kern and Keith Riddle each had a pair of one baggers.

Jeff Justus cracked a four bagger for the Washington nine. Stoutsville now sports a 3-2 record in the league and Washington is 4-1.

Large Field Set In Scioto Challenge

A bulging entry box in the Challenge Stakes 2-year-old race at Scioto Downs Thursday night, revealed thirty seven of the nation's top juveniles ready to battle for $25,900. The race split into three divisions of twelve, thirteen and twelve starters, each going for one of the Challenge Stakes trophies.

Scioto's leading reinsman Gene Riegler entered five, including Jay Time (2:02.3) in the second division and Kit Hanover (2:02) in the tough third division.

Bruce Nickells entered four, Billy Houghton has two in, and Clarence Martin has a pair entered.

In the second division, Riegler's stable entry of Tarpo and Jay Time are the early favorites. Jay Time, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Baas of Columbus, is undefeated in three starts this year.

In the third division, the Double Z and P stable of Middletown, Ohio, has the favorite in Good Bye Columbus. Trained by Ron Stokely, and driven by Marc Ferguson, this bay son of Good Time has won four of five starts this year.

Gene Riegler's stable entry of Kit Hanover and Bretta is a formidable entry. Kit Hanover has won in 2:02. Howard Beissinger has Entrepreneur, at son of Bye Bye Byrd, who finished right behind the season champion 2 year old Strike Out last week in 2:02.

Joe Frazier Not Worried About Health

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Joe Frazier admits he can't out-talk his old antagonist Muhammad Ali, but the heavyweight champion does have a way of getting attention.

Frazier had been on the ground in Houston only a few minutes Tuesday when he announced he would try to get clearance to go to North Vietnam to seek the release of American prisoners.

Everybody seemed worried about Frazier's health except Frazier.

"Anybody who wants to check me up, that's okay with me," Frazier said. "I'm willing to go to any doctor. I've had no problems with headaches. I've been training three weeks and I feel great."

That's bad news for Cleveland "Big Cat" Williams, a seasoned pro, and James Helwig, a Texas Christian football player who recently turned pro boxer.

Frazier will spar two rounds with each in the Astrohall tonight as the feature of a card that includes four other fights.

AL Snatches Victory From NL In 6 - 4 Tilt

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — After eight years of All-Star frustration the American League finally found the silver lining...and it came like a bolt out of the blue.

Reggie Jackson's bolt, not Vida Blue's.

While the fans came to see the sensation AL Blue pitch they all went home talking about Jackson's really-sparking home run that helped the Americans stop an eight-game losing streak with a 6-4 victory over the Nationals in Tuesday night's 42nd All-Star Game.

"That ball really took off and I thought it was going to knock the light tower down," said National League catcher Johnny Bench about Jackson's gigantic, two-run pinch-hit wallop that highlighted a four-run third inning.

Jackson's blast off National League starter Dock Ellis, estimated at close to 800 feet since it hammered against the facade over the upper deck of Tiger Stadium's right-center field, touched off an American League power spree.

Frank Robinson delivered a two-run shot later in the inning and Harmon Killebrew followed with the clincher, another two-run smash in the sixth.

"Good pitching doesn't always stop good hitting," said Blue, referring to the old baseball adage.

He spoke from experience. Blue, who came into the contest touted as baseball's best pitcher, breezed through the first three batters before dealing a gopher pitch to Bench who smacked a two-run homer in the National League second.

Despite an unparalleled 17-3 record and 188 strikeouts just halfway through the season, the Blue Blazer admitted he's only human.

"I'm no super All-Star," said Blue, who said he was "serious before I threw the first pitch" in his first performance in an All-Star game.

So Blue was saddled with a quick three-run deficit and the partisan 53,559 fans in the Detroit Tigers' ancient park probably wondered if their American League heroes would ever win a game and cut into the National League's 23-17 advantage.

The light-hitting shortstop Luis Aparacio hit a sharp single in the third and Jackson came in to bat for Blue, his Oakland teammate.

Jackson, a last-minute replacement for injured All-Star Tony Oliva, had two strikes on him before he knew it.

that bounded off a light tower high atop the third deck at Tiger Stadium as 53,559 fans reacted in amazement.

Bench, whose own two-run homer had started the NL on its scoring for the night, was more interested in talking about Jackson's drive.

"That ball really took off and I thought it was going to knock the light tower down," he said with a grin. "Seriously, if the ball hadn't hit the tower it probably would be still rolling."

Jackson, nibbling on a piece of pizza as a swarm of newsmen surrounded him in the AL dressing room, said his tape-measure wallop came on a slider. "I hit it pretty good," he said in an understatement.

Rozzie Thorpe Wins Scioto Downs Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rozzie Thorpe came from third in the stretch to take the featured seventh race at Scioto Downs Tuesday night by a head, returning $6.40, $3.80 and $3.40.

Saunders Echo placed for $3.80 and $4 and Phillis Daris showed for $4.20.

The 1-9 nightly double combination of Flashy Buckeye and Easy Easy paid an even $63 and the 2-5 quinnella was worth $46.20. Some 8,143 pacing fans bet $286,649.

IHL Is Split Up Into 2 Divisions

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The International Hockey League will be split into two divisions of four teams each for the 1971 season, it was decided at the league's annual draft meeting Tuesday night in Toledo.

The decision follows the return of Columbus to the league, which gives the IHL an even eight teams.

Columbus, Dayton, Des Moines and Ft. Wayne will play in one division and Port Huron, Muskegon, Flint and Toledo will form the second.

AL's All-Star losing streak at eight.

And afterwards they each lauded the other for his performance.

"If I could walk in his image it would be tremendous," the Oakland outfielder said of Robinson in the AL clubhouse.

"I'm not saying he's a god or a saint. But he's the best I've ever seen."

This year he became an All-Star at Weaver's selection only after Tony Oliva of Minnesota decided not to play because of injury.

Robinson was voted most valuable player of the game by newsmen.

Public Links Golf Clash Under Way

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A field of 150 golfers teed off today in the 46th National Public Links Championships as temperatures soared over the 100 degree mark.

One of those who complained about Tuesday's 111 degree reading was Archie Dadian, at 37 one of the older linksmen hoping to take the 6,956-yard par 72 Papago Golf Course.

Dadian has had practice rounds of 72, 76 and 75 over the toughened up course in East Phoenix.

"But I've had about nine three-putt greens," he said. Dadian left the pro tour in the mid-1960s after breaking his left hand while playing in the Azalea Open. He finished third in the 1970 National Publinkx.

Dadian, who won an automobile with a hole-in-one in the Buick Open during his two-year stint on the pro tour, complained about the hot weather Tuesday.

He said the heat factor will enable one of the younger players to win the tournament. Dadian predicted 290 would be the winning score "If somebody gets the ball moving. But it might be 293 or 294."

Les Wimp, Papago's teaching pro says he thinks the top score will be an even par 288.

DETROIT (AP) — After eight years of All-Star frustration the American League finally found the silver lining...and it came like a bolt out of the blue.

Reggie Jackson's bolt, not Vida Blue's.

While the fans came to see the sensation AL Blue pitch they all went home talking about Jackson's really-sparking home run that helped the Americans stop an eight-game losing streak with a 6-4 victory over the Nationals in Tuesday night's 42nd All-Star Game.

"That ball really took off and I thought it was going to knock the light tower down," said National League catcher Johnny Bench about Jackson's gigantic, two-run pinch-hit wallop that highlighted a four-run third inning.

Jackson's blast off National League starter Dock Ellis, estimated at close to 600 feet since it hammered against the facade over the upper deck of Tiger Stadium's right-center field, touched off an American League power spree.

Frank Robinson delivered a two-run shot later in the inning and Harmon Killebrew followed with the clincher, another two-run smash in the sixth.

The Jackson shot helped the American League wipe out an early 3-0 National League advantage, built on two homers off Blue, the Oakland A's usually untouchable 17-game winner.

"Good pitching doesn't always stop good hitting," said Blue, referring to the old baseball adage.

He spoke from experience. Blue, who came into the contest touted as baseball's best pitcher, breezed through the first three batters before dealing a gopher pitch to Bench who smacked a two-run homer in the National League second.

Blue then gave up another homer in the third inning, this time to Hank Aaron.

Despite an unparalleled 17-3 record and 188 strikeouts just halfway through the season, the Blue Blazer admitted he's only human.

"I'm no super All-Star," said Blue, who said he was "serious before I threw the first pitch" in his first performance in an All-Star game.

So Blue was saddled with a quick three-run deficit and the partisan 53,559 fans in the Detroit Tigers' ancient park probably wondered if their American League heroes would ever win a game and cut into the National League's 23-17 advantage.

The light-hitting shortstop Luis Aparacio hit a sharp single in the third and Jackson came in to bat for Blue, his Oakland teammate.

Jackson, a last-minute replacement for injured All-Star Tony Oliva, had two strikes on him before he knew it.

The next pitch sailed off

Jackson's bat like a bullet and was greeted by a thunderous ovation as the home fans applauded the American League's first two runs. The Nationals didn't know it at the time, but it was all over.

While the American stars pounded the cover off the ball, Weaver still wasn't sure about the outcome until third baseman Brooks Robinson pocketed Bench's pop for the last out.

"You always feel you'll blow the lead," said Baltimore's spunky, little manager. "You've got to have a pitcher ready. I'm nervous as hell, and I just can't relax until the ball's caught for the final out."

Homers Entire All-Star Story

DETROIT (AP) — American League Manager Earl Weaver came up with a new victory formula Tuesday night as his home-run conscious team cashed in on the long ball to nip the National League 6-4.

"I had a meeting with the team before the game and reminded them they still have a major share of the American League race left and I cautioned them not to take chances or to get hurt, even though we wanted to win the game."

The American Leaguers, seeking to avoid the possibility of a base runner being injured in trying to stretch a hit, did their scoring the easy way as all six of their runs jogged across the plate as a result of home run wallops.

"I'd expected to see some long-ball hitting in this park," said Sparky Anderson, somewhat downcast manager of the National League team whose eight-year domination of the annual All-Star classic came to an end in the action-packed meeting at Tiger Stadium.

Anderson, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, expressed surprise, however, that all runs scored in the long-hitting game scampers across the plate as a result of home runs. He conceded that both starting pitchers, fireballing Vida

Blue of the Oakland A's and Dock Ellis of Pittsburgh's National League club, got roughed up more than he had anticipated.

Blue was tagged for three runs, on home run shots by Johnny Bench and Hank Aaron, in his three-inning opening stint but he still wound up the winning pitcher as the American Leaguers came to life with a four-run outburst against Ellis in a third inning ignited by a pair of home runs.

Reggie Jackson, in the game as a pinch hitter for Blue, hit the first homer off the blazing-fast Ellis. It was a tremendous line shot to right-center field that bounded off a light tower high atop the third deck at Tiger Stadium as 53,559 fans reacted in amazement.

Bench, whose own two-run homer had started the NL on its scoring for the night, was more interested in talking about Jackson's drive.

"That ball really took off and I thought it was going to knock the light tower down," he said with a grin. "Seriously, if the ball hadn't hit the tower it probably would be still rolling."

Jackson, nibbling on a piece of pizza as a swarm of newsmen surrounded him in the AL dressing room said his tape-measure wallop came on a slider. "I hit it pretty good," he said in an understatement.

Robinson, Jackson Heroes Of Baseball's Showpiece

DETROIT (AP) — Over the winter Frank Robinson helped straighten out Reggie Jackson's hitting problems by patting him on the back.

Tuesday night they combined to straighten out the American League's losing problem and now both are getting pats on the back.

They each hit two-run homers in the third inning off Pittsburgh's Dock Ellis and later Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew added another two-run shot which powered the American League to a 6-4 victory over the National League in the 42nd annual All-Star Game.

"Jackson got us close, Frank put us ahead, and Killebrew made it easy," summed up Earl Weaver of Baltimore, manager of the victors.

Robinson was voted most valuable player of the game by newsmen.

Robinson and Jackson must be considered dual heroes in the slugfest, which stopped the AL's All-Star losing streak at eight.

And afterwards they each lauded the other for his performance.

"If I could walk in his image it would be tremendous," the Oakland outfielder said of Robinson in the AL clubhouse.

"I'm not saying he's a god or a saint. But he's the best I've ever seen."

Jackson credited the Baltimore superstar for helping him come back this year from a slumping 1970 season.

Last year Jackson's batting average dropped from .275 to .237, his home run count from 47 to 23 and his RBI total from 118 to 66.

This year he became an All-Star at Weaver's selection only

IHL Is Split Up Into 2 Divisions

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The International Hockey League will be split into two divisions of four teams each for the 1971 season, it was decided at the league's annual draft meeting Tuesday night in Toledo.

The decision follows the return of Columbus to the league, which gives the IHL an even eight teams.

Columbus, Dayton, Des Moines and Ft. Wayne will play in one division and Port Huron, Muskegon, Flint and Toledo will form the second.

Rozzie Thorpe Wins Scioto Downs Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rozzie Thorpe came from third in the stretch to take the featured seventh race at Scioto Downs Tuesday night by a head, returning $6.40, $3.80 and $3.40.

Saunders Echo placed for $3.80 and $4 and Phillis Daris showed for $4.20.

The 1-9 nightly double combination of Flashy Buckeye and Easy Easy paid an even $63 and the 2-5 quinella was worth $46.20. Some 8,143 pacing fans bet $286,649.

Hummel And Plum, CAP Win Mosquito Contests

Hummel and Plum and Circle Auto Parts were winners in Tuesday night Mosquito league action.

Hummel and Plum held Hill's Implement scoreless to win 9-0. Jeff Rae and Teddy Robinson did the pitching for Hummel and Plum, giving up four hits, striking out 11 and walking only three.

Blue Ribbon Rips Ward's Market In Slugfest, 29-13

Blue Ribbon Dairy ran over Ward's Market 29-13 in Tuesday's Minor league game.

Kevin Woltz and Rocky Schwalbaugh were the winning pitchers, giving up seven hits, walking nine and striking out one.

Don Hill blasted a triple and a single for the winners while Brad Rase, Schwilbaugh and Ron Hill all got two singles.

Ward's pitched four men George Johnson, Francis, Brad Dye and Cliff Johnson. They allowed 12 hits.

Chuck Wellman and Tim Herron hit doubles for the losers.

Cleveland Browns Eye Rookie Receivers

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns are hoping that two rookie receivers can step into the shoes of Homer Jones traded to the St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday for a "high draft choice."

The rookies on the spot are Paul Staroba from the University of Michigan and Stan Brown from Purdue University.

Large Field Set In Scioto Challenge

A bulging entry box in the Challenge Stakes 2-year-old race at Scioto Downs Thursday night, revealed thirty seven of the nation's top juveniles ready to battle for $25,900. The race split into three divisions of twelve, thirteen and twelve starters, each going for one of the Challenge Stakes trophies.

Scioto's leading reinsman Gene Riegler entered five, including Jay Time (2:02.3) in the second division and Kit Hanover (2:02) in the tough third division.

Bruce Nickells entered four. Billy Houghton has two in, and Clarence Martin has a pair entered.

In the first division, Appropo, the son of Knight Time, undefeated in seven starts this year is the early morning line choice.

In the second division, Riegler's stable entry of Tarpo and Jay Time are the early favorites. Jay Time, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Baas of Columbus, is undefeated in three starts this year.

In the third division, the Double Z and P stable of Middletown, Ohio, has the favorite in Good Bye Columbus. Trained by Ron Stokely, and driven by Marc Ferguson, this bay son of Good Time has won four of five starts this year.

Gene Riegler's stable entry of Kit Hanover and Bretta is a formidable entry. Kit Hanover has won in 2:02. Howard Beissinger has Entrepreneur, the son of Bye Bye Byrd, who finished right behind the season champion 2 year old Strike Out last week in 2:02.

Joe Frazier Not Worried About Health

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Joe Frazier admits he can't out-talk his old antagonist Muhammad Ali, but the heavyweight champion does have a way of getting attention.

Frazier had been on the ground in Houston only a few minutes Tuesday when he announced he would try to get clearance to go to North Vietnam to seek the release of American prisoners.

Later he invaded Ali's training camp at the Astrohall because "I just wanted to see what you looked like now. Usually when I get through with a fighter, there's not much left."

Everybody seemed worried about Frazier's health except Frazier.

"Anybody who wants to check me up, that's okay with me," Frazier said. "I'm willing to go to any doctor. I've had no problems with headaches. I've been training three weeks and I feel great."

That's bad news for Cleveland "Big Cat" Williams, a seasoned pro, and James Helwig, a Texas Christian football player who recently turned pro boxer.

Frazier will spar two rounds with each in the Astrohall tonight as the feature of a card that includes four other fights.

Public Links Golf Clash Under Way

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A field of 150 golfers teed off today in the 46th National Public Links Championships as temperatures soared over the 100 degree mark.

One of those who complained about Tuesday's 111 degree reading was Archie Dadian, at 37 one of the older linksmen hoping to take the 6,356-yard par 72 Papago Golf Course.

Dadian has had practice rounds of 72, 76 and 75 over the toughened up course in East Phoenix.

"But I've had about nine three-putt greens," he said. Dadian left the pro tour in the mid-1960s after breaking his left hand while playing in the Azalea Open. He finished third in the 1970 National Publink.

Dadian, who won an automobile with a hole-in-one in the Buick Open during his two-year stint on the pro tour, complained about the hot weather Tuesday.

He said the heat factor will enable one of the younger players to win the tournament. Dadian predicted 290 would be the winning score "If somebody gets the ball moving. But it might be 293 or 294."

Les Wimp, Papago's teaching pro says he thinks the top score will be an even par 288.

19. Farms for Sale

160 ACRES — All level, tillable and highly productive land bounded by two roads, offering approximately one mile of road frontage. Located one mile north of the new proposed U. S. 35 Interchange for Frankfort, Ross County, Ohio. Priced to sell at only $450.00 per acre.

40 ACRES — All level, tillable and highly productive land, located across the road from the above listed 160 acre tract, also priced at $450.00 per acre. These two tracts could be added together making 200 acres or can be bought separately.

22 ACRES — Improved with a new 2-story colonial home. Well located in rich producing agri-business area 2 1/2 miles north of Frankfort, Ohio, within a mile of the new proposed U. S. 35 freeway interchange, which will be the approximate midway point between Chillicothe and Washington C. H. The land is level, tiled, fenced, all in grass with some mature trees. The home is situated approximately in the center of the 22 acre tract, giving a private and quiet living area. The Mt. Vernon style home consisting of 8 rooms, 2 bath areas, under construction, finish to suit yourself. Other improvements are: a new drilled well (plus another dug well), electric service, septic system, and graded driveway. All rural deliveries available. Owners have moved out of the area and desire a quick sale at only $25,000.

170 ACRES — A gently rolling but highly productive farm lying on both sides of Moxley Road (with lot of frontage) immediately east of the Rapid Forge Road, 5 miles south of Greenfield in Ross County, where the Paint Creek Federal Flood Control Reservoir is being built. 145 acres are tillable crop land, balance in grass and wooded areas. It is improved with an exceptionally good 2-story home consisting of a large living room with fireplace, den with fireplace, formal dining room, large kitchen and half bath down. Upstairs consists of 4 large bedrooms and full bath. Partial basement with oil fired furnace, electric water heater and laundry facilities. 30' x 60' barn and other out buildings. Good fences and water supply. Priced at $500.00 per acre.

523 ACRES — Level to gently rolling, highly productive land of which 477 acres are crop land, balance in grass. Small stream, one pond and three good wells furnish an abundance of water. Well located just off U. S. 35 three miles west of Frankfort, Ohio, Ross County. Improvements include the main dwelling being a modern two-story home; tenant house is a one-floor six room home with bath.

297 ACRES — Level to gently rolling, high producing 250 acres crop land, balance in grass and woods. Well located near South Vienna, Madison County, Ohio, approximately 25 miles west of Columbus, Ohio. Older set of buildings. Owners will sell on Land Contract with 25% down payment, balance at 7% interest for ten years. Priced at $450.00 per acre.

212 ACRES — Level, high producing 190 acres, balance in grass. Farm bounded by roads on two sides, well located near South Vienna, Madison County, Ohio, approximately 25 miles west of Columbus, Ohio. Beautiful setting with an extra good set of buildings including a nice modern two-story home with living room, family room, dream kitchen with built-in gas stove and oven, bar and dinette; 4 large bedrooms and full bath up. Basement with oil fired hot water furnace. New drilled well with submergible pump. Large barn for cattle or hogs, hog farrowing barn, double corn crib, with granary storage above and attached machinery storage shed. Double garage and shop. This sharp farm can be purchased on Land Contract, 25% down payment, balance at 7% interest for 10 years.

It's your ECONOMY

By CARL H. MADDEN, CHIEF ECONOMIST
Chamber of Commerce of the United States

WOMEN ARE LESS LIKELY to be employed in high occupational ranks than men. So the higher the occupation, the smaller the percentage of women employed. In 1969, younger women (14-19 years) actually earned slightly more than men in lower-paid jobs. But in the next three age brackets, women's earnings were successively lower compared to men's. One explanation is that women have accounted for 55 per cent of all additions to the labor force in the past two decades, so they compete with each other for "women's work." Another explanation is that the proportion of women 20-24 in the labor force is rising rapidly. Also, men are improving in educational attainment. The greater longevity of women partially explains the higher percentage of women's earnings in the brackets starting at age 45.

Corrales, Stewart Eye Spots In Cincinnati Reds Lineup

CINCINNATI (AP) — An interesting problem confronts Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson as the Reds prepare to embark on the second half of the season.

What should he do about two of his top performers, catcher John Bench and second baseman Tommy Helms, who have been sidelined by recent hand injuries, but now ready to go?

The Reds, struggling all season after taking the National League crown a year ago, are mired in fifth place in the Western Division of the NL, 15 games behind the pacesetter San Francisco Giants.

But immediately prior to the All-Star break, the Reds, minus Bench and Helms, swept four straight games from the reeling New York Mets.

Much of the credit for the resurgence of the team must go to two little-used subs catcher Pat Corrales, and utility man Jimmy Stewart, who took over for Helms at second.

Anderson indicated after they sweep over the Mets that he felt

Women's Match Play Continues

CINCINNATI (AP) — To capture the Women's Ohio State Golf Championship for the third time, Fee Fee Matthews of Portsmouth figures she has to overcome a big opponent—herself.

"The only pressure that I got today was basically from my own game," Miss Matthews said Tuesday after defeating 17-year-old Pat Williams of Toledo 2-up in the first round of the four-day match play event.

"I feel like I have about as much touch and talent as a gorilla," Miss Matthews continued. "Except I don't get the distance of a gorilla."

Miss Matthews led a host of favorites who won matches in the tournament at Camargo Country Club which has a women's par of 38-37-75 and distance of 6,328 yards.

Miss Matthews was the second low qualifier Monday with a 78. Mrs. Buce Diem of Cincinnati posted the lowest qualifying score of 77 and on Tuesday she rolled over Janice Fessel of Cincinnati 6 and 5.

Immel Takes Lead In Amateur Clash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Putting normally isn't Craig Immel's bag, but it was Tuesday for the first round Ohio amateur golf leader from Massillon.

Immel needed only 30 putts, including ones of 40 and 20 feet for birdies, for a par-equaling 71. He was the only one of a field of 198 to equal par over Scioto Country Club's demanding 6,822 yards.

One stroke back was 1969 winner Gary Artz, 24-year-old Akron realtor. Fred Nadalin, 40, a Columbus cement contractor, was two shots behind at 73.

Man Fined For Assault On Umpire

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 30-year-old Cincinnati man has been placed on probation until Oct. 2 and fined $20 and costs as the result of an assault on an umpire after an amateur softball game.

David Richardson was sentenced Tuesday after Judge Donald Montfort of the Hamilton County Municipal Court convicted him on an assault and battery charge.

Robert Overbeck, a five-year veteran of the Queen City Umpires Association, said that Richardson grabbed his neck and struck him with his fists after a game July 7 but finally players restrained Richardson.

Overbeck, who was not seriously hurt, said Richardson had been coaching third base in late innings of the game in which Overbeck said he had to make calls on several close plays.

The team Richardson was on lost 8-7.

Ohio Power Talks Set

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Federal mediator Christopher J. Slesky will meet Friday morning with negotiators from the Ohio Power Co. and Local 116 of the Utility Workers of America in an attempt to reach a contract agreement.

The 266-member local is the only one involved in the discussion even though all 1,138 Ohio Power employees represented by the union have given their local strike authorization.

Local 116 represents workers at the Canton and Coschocton divisions.

The UWA and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, which represents another 511 workers in the Zanesville-Newark and Steubenville divisions, have been without a contract since July 1.

Work has continued since then on a day-to-day basis. There has been no strike authorization from the IBEW.

Besides the triple dead heat in the 1944 Carter Handicap at Aqueduct, the 1926 Carter, also at Aqueduct, was a two-way dead heat between Macaw and Nedana.

Bob Johnson had the highest single game strikeout total of 1970 for the Kansas City Royals when he fanned 12 Boston batters.

Today's SPORTS

Man Fined For Assault On Umpire

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 30-year-old Cincinnati man has been placed on probation until Oct. 2 and fined $20 and costs as the result of an assault on an umpire after an amateur softball game.

David Richardson was sentenced Tuesday after Judge Donald Montfort of the Hamilton County Municipal Court convicted him on an assault and battery charge.

Robert Overbeck, a five-year veteran of the Queen City Umpires Association, said that Richardson grabbed his neck and struck him with his fists after a game July 7 but finally players restrained Richardson. Overbeck, who was not seriously hurt, said Richardson had been coaching third base in late innings of the game in which Overbeck said he had to make calls on several close plays.

The team Richardson was on lost 8-7.

Ohio Power Talks Set

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Federal mediator Christopher J. Siesky will meet Friday morning with negotiators from the Ohio Power Co. and Local 116 of the Utility Workers of America in an attempt to reach a contract agreement.

The 266-member local is the only one involved in the discussion even though all 1,138 Ohio Power employees represented by the union have given their local strike authorization.

Local 116 represents workers at the Canton and Coshocton divisions.

The UWA and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, which represents another 511 workers in the Zanesville-Newark and Steubenville divisions, have been without a contract since July 1.

Work has continued since then on a day-to-day basis. There has been no strike authorization from the IBEW.

Besides the triple dead heat in the 1944 Carter Handicap at Aqueduct, the 1926 Carter, also at Aqueduct, was a two-way dead heat between Macaw and Nedana.

Bob Johnson had the highest single game strikeout total of 1970 for the Kansas City Royals when he fanned 12 Boston batters.

Major Quake Reported Near Bougainville

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major earthquake struck near the sparsely populated island of Bougainville in the Solomon Islands of the South Pacific today the National Earthquake Information Center reported.

A spokesman said a watch was under way by Pacific Ocean observatories for a possible tidal wave, but none had been reported.

The earthquake, at 2:11 a.m. EDT, registered at 8.1 on the Richter scale, the largest shock since a West Guinea quake Jan. 10. The 1964 Alaska earthquake registered at 8.5.

Bougainville, just east of the main island of New Guinea, was captured by Japanese and then American troops during World War II.

Greg Landrey Angry At Detroit Lion Offer

DETROIT (AP) — Piqued by what he termed a "ludicrous" contract offer from the Detroit Lions, quarterback Greg Landrey has served notice that he will play out his option and become a free agent after the 1971-72 National Football League season.

The 24-year-old NFL veteran, who led the Lions to a position in the post-season playoffs last year, divulged his plans at a morning news conference prior to reporting to the Lions' Cranbrook training camp.

Immel Takes Lead In Amateur Clash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Putting normally isn't Craig Immel's bag, but it was Tuesday for the first round Ohio amateur golf leader from Massillon.

Immel needed only 30 putts, including ones of 40 and 20 feet for birdies, for a par-equaling 71. He was the only one of a field of 198 to equal par over Scioto Country Club's demanding 6,822 yards.

Women's Match Play Continues

CINCINNATI (AP) — To capture the Women's Ohio State Golf Championship for the third time, Fee Fee Matthews of Portsmouth figures she has to overcome a big opponent—herself.

"The only pressure that I got today was basically from my own game," Miss Matthews said Tuesday after defeating 17-year-old Pat Williams of Toledo 2-up in the first round of the four-day match play event.

"I feel like I have about as much touch and talent as a gorilla," Miss Matthews continued. "Except I don't get the distance of a gorilla."

Miss Matthews led a host of favorites who won matches in the tournament at Camargo Country Club which has a women's par of 38-37-75 and distance of 6,328 yards.

Miss Matthews was the second low qualifier Monday with a 78. Mrs. Buce Diem of Cincinnati posted the lowest qualifying score of 77 and on Tuesday she rolled over Janice Fessel of Cincinnati 6 and 5.

Corrales, Stewart Eye Spots In Cincinnati Reds Lineup

CINCINNATI (AP) — An interesting problem confronts Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson as the Reds prepare to embark on the second half of the season.

What should he do about two of his top performers, catcher John Bench and second baseman Tommy Helms, who have been sidelined by recent hand injuries, but now ready to go?

The Reds, struggling all season after taking the National League crown a year ago, are mired in fifth place in the Western Division of the NL, 15 games behind the pacesetter San Francisco Giants.

But immediately prior to the All-Star break, the Reds, minus Bench and Helms, swept four straight games from the reeling New York Mets.

Much of the credit for the resurgence of the team must go to two little-used subs: catcher Pat Corrales, and utility man Jimmy Stewart, who took over for Helms at second.

Anderson indicated after they sweep over the Mets that he felt he would have to keep Corrales and Stewart, along with shortstop Woody Woodward (filling in for injured Dave Concepcion) in the lineup. So where does that leave Bench, Helms and Concepcion?

"I can't give enough credit to these guys who have stepped in for us," Anderson pointed out. "After all, we had lost seven in a row on our road trip, and it seemed that they gave us just the sort of lift that we needed most. I don't want to take them out of the lineup because they certainly have earned a chance to stay in there for us."

Larry Shepard, pitching coach for Cincinnati, praised Corrales' work behind the plate saying, "Pat has been absolutely great. His selection of pitches and his control of our staff behind the plate has been letter-perfect. In my mind, he's a great handler of pitchers, maybe even one of the best in the game."

As for Corrales, who actually was a participant in the All-Star game at Detroit in the role of batting practice catcher, he simply was pleased to have helped the Reds mount the winning streak.

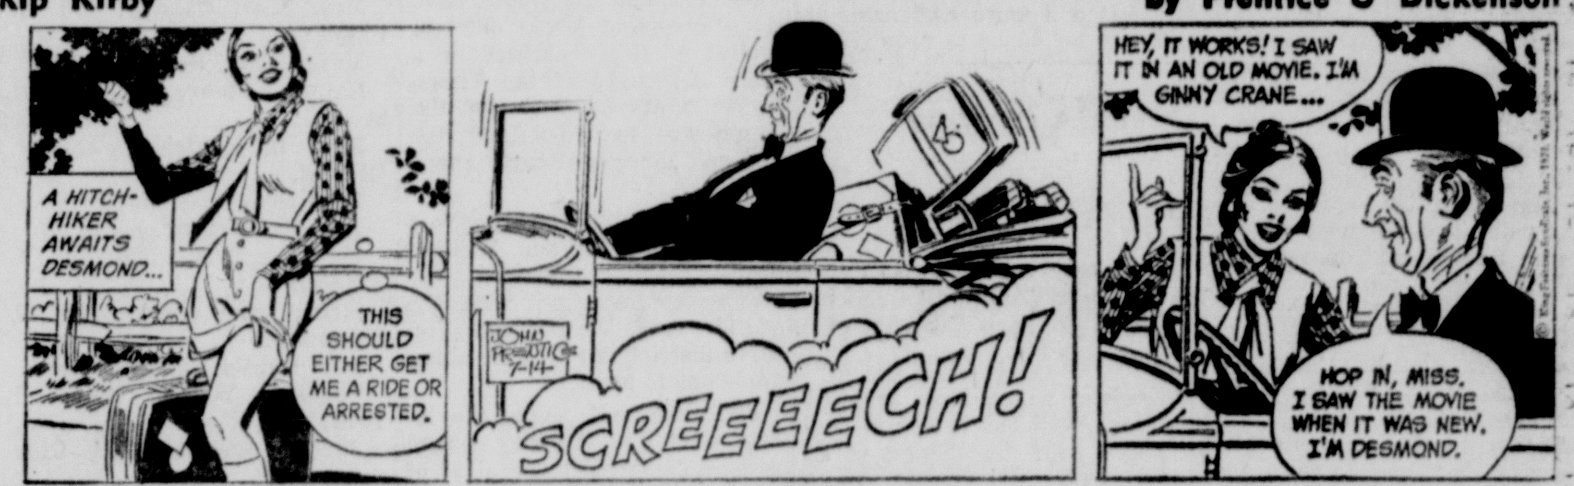

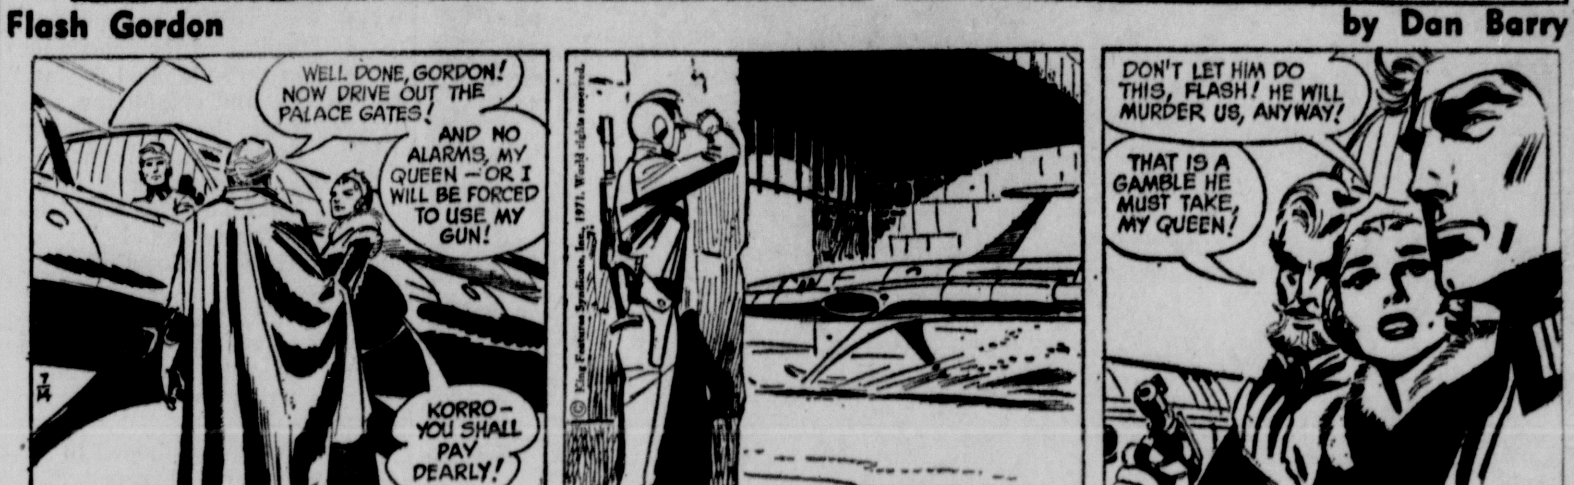

"We've been getting some fine pitching performances," he modestly stated. "I'm glad to have a chance to play, and it's great to take all four from a team like the Mets. But I'd like to pick up on my hitting."

$2 Billion Aid-To-Business Bill Could Bail Out Lockheed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Banking Committee has approved a bill empowering a three-man board to dole out up to $2 billion in federal loan guarantees to ailing industrial giants considered vital to the economy.

But questions arose Tuesday whether the bill could be passed in time to help Lockheed Aircraft Corp., the administration's first concern, or whether Lockheed could even qualify under the new legislation.

The committee vote was 10 to 5, with two Democrats and three Republicans opposing the White House-endorsed measure. Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin, ranking committee Democrat who has threatened repeatedly to filibuster any Lockheed aid proposal, said he will oppose the committee bill on grounds "it would set a dangerously bad precedent for our economy if the authority is ever used."

Proxmire said the three-man board's composition, changed during two days of closed committee sessions, casts doubt on whether Lockheed would qualify for the $250-million loan backing it says is needed to avoid going broke and putting 31,000 people out of work, possibly by September.

Lockheed has blamed its troubles on collapse of Rolls-Royce Ltd., British maker of the engines for Lockheed's TriStar Airbus on which the nation's top defense contractor is pinning its hopes to reduce de-

Bus Driver Arrested In Slaying

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland police have arrested a 22-year-old bus driver in connection with the slaying of an 18-year-old Cleveland youth whose body — bound hand and foot — had been dumped in a wooded lot on the East Side. Two others were being sought in connection with the slaying, while a 27-year-old informant was being held for questioning, police said.

Detectives said the dead youth, Parris Roulette Ray, was believed to have been involved in narcotics traffic.

An informant told police the victim had been beaten with a hose and tortured for two days in the basement of a ramshackle house for alleged involvement in a plot in which $1,100 in drug money was stolen.

The informant told detectives battery acid was injected into Ray's left arm, a powerful drain cleaner was injected into his neck and a quantity of LSD was placed in his mouth.

When this did not kill Ray, police were told, a plastic bag was tied over his head, and he apparently suffocated.

The decomposed body, with the head missing, was found Monday near East 81st Street along Holloot Court. The head apparently came off through decomposition, the coroner's office said, and it was found about 20 feet away down a slope.

A pair of white pantyhose was tied around the neck, police said.

$600,000 Blaze Hits Old Church

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A four-hour blaze that ripped through the interior of the 100-year-old Calvary United Methodist Church on the city's South Side Tuesday caused an estimated $600,000 damage, fire officials said.

About 25-30 children were in the basement of the church at the time the fire broke out, but all escaped unharmed. Firemen said the children—aged 3 to 6—were in a Model Cities day-care program that uses the church basement. They said five women and two men supervisors helped the children to safety. Firemen said one exit door in the basement was blocked by flames, but that all got out a door on the opposite side of the room.

Fire Chief Carl Best said damage to the church itself was about $400,000 and to the contents about $200,000. The ceiling was also destroyed, he said.

No cause was determined, but Best said the fire apparently started in the organist's loft.

Earlier reports that the fire was triggered by an explosion proved erroneous, said Best, attributing the explosive-like noise to the church chimes falling to the floor.

Indict 'Heroic' Nurse's Aide In Fire Fatal To 9 Patients

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A petite nurse's aide, who was praised as a heroine last January, faced arraignment today on 10 counts of wilful murder and one of arson in connection with a fire that killed nine persons at a senior citizens home.

Pretty 21-year-old Mary Ann Wyatt was rushed unconscious to a hospital after spending more than three hours last Jan. 14 rescuing and comforting survivors from the Westminster Terrace Presbyterian Home.

She was arrested and jailed without bond Tuesday after the Jefferson County grand jury indicted her in connection with the blaze.

The indictment gave no details of Miss Wyatt's alleged connection with the fire other than to name her and list the charges.

As smoke rolled through halls, Miss Wyatt and Heien Turner, the night nurse, moved 12 of the 13 infirm patients safely out of the building. The other died from smoke inhalation.

Miss Wyatt then led other residents of the home to safety, in many cases forcing locks on sliding glass doors and moving patients to balconies outside their rooms.

Of 94 residents in the building, nine died of smoke inhalation, and a tenth died of pneumonia Jan. 21.

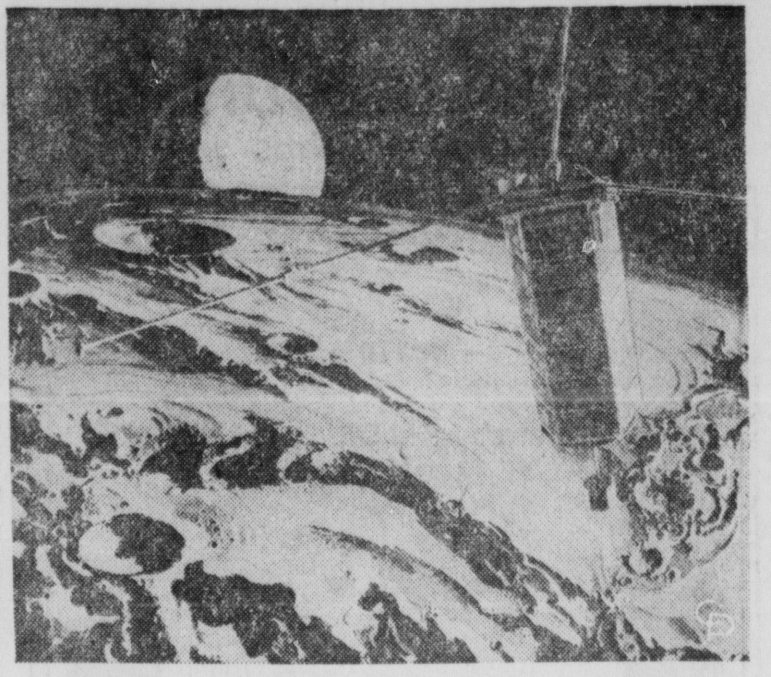

Dr. Donald Thomas, Director of the emergency room at Louisville General Hospital and a city fire department physician, praised the 4-foot-11 brunette for her rescue efforts.

"I could see she had taken in a lot of smoke, but she didn't want to go to the hospital," he said.

"The pay's not too hot and the benefits aren't great, but I loved those people," Miss Wyatt said from her bed in January.

Arson investigators theorized that paper was used to start the fire but said the intensity of the flames apparently consumed the starter fuel. The $1.5 million building was damaged severely.

The indictment listed 40 witnesses, including 16 county police officers, two firemen, residents of the home and the Rev. Jack T. Goodykoontz, executive director of the home.
